The blood bank is empty, says Red Cross worker Lillian Sibley.

Blood Bank Situation Said To Be 'Desperate'

Stocks in the Red Cross blood bank in Victoria have dwindled to the vanishing point. As a result, emergency donors have been called on to supply needed plasma for routine operations as well as accidents and other emergencies.

The situation is described as "desperate" by hospital officials, but suggestions that a new system is needed were emphatically refused.

"We have no blood on hand at present," said George Masters, administrator of Royal Jubilee Hospital. "But we are not lessening our service, nor are we postponing operations."

VICTORIA AT QUAKE'S CENTRE BUT RATTLES ONLY EVIDENCE

Residents of Gonzales Bay-Shoal Bay area were close to the epicentre of a small earthquake Wednesday night which shook homes and rattled dishes. The tremor, which did no damage, was felt about 8.49 p.m.

The quake's centre was located close to Shoal Bay by seismologist W. Milne of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, Saanich. The intensity of the tremor was described by Mr. Milne as "light."

C.C.F. Leader Urges Freer Canadian Trade

National Convention Presses for Open Disclosure of Campaign Fund Sources

TORONTO, Aug. 7 (CP)—M. J. Coldwell, national leader of the C.C.F., today urged "the necessity" of encouraging a freer exchange of goods between Canada and her customers.

Making his report to the C.C.F. national convention, he added: "The day has long since past, if it ever existed, when we could safely offer for sale in the United Kingdom or elsewhere, vast quantities of Canadian supplies, and buy in equally vast quantities manufactured goods from the United States."

"Assuredly we can only sell where we are prepared to buy." For the most part, Mr. Coldwell's report was a review of the activities of the C.C.F. party in the House of Commons. He said: "Like other Democratic Socialist movements we have had our electoral failures and successes, but we have had a profound effect for good upon governments in power who, because of our activities, have been compelled to enact many measures of social and economic reform, which would not have been enacted if we weren't in the field."

In his comments on international affairs, Mr. Coldwell said in part:

"We must strive to prevent any extension of the war in Asia. That, I believe, is what the Communists would welcome."

"Nor must we be weakened by propaganda accusing the United Nations of adopting germ warfare in Korea. If there were truth in such charges, I am convinced the Chinese and North Koreans would not only permit, but would have welcomed long ago, an investigation by the International Red Cross or some other neutral body."

"It is true you cannot humanize war, but Canada should urge all nations to agree to any and all proposals outlawing the use of poison gas, the napalm bomb, germ or any other means of biological warfare, and, indeed, atomic weapons."

The convention decided to press for disclosure of the sources of all donations to election campaigns in excess of $500.

This was part of a long resolution on "political democracy" which outlined a program of electoral reform.

The original resolution called for disclosure of donations in excess of $100; but the limit was raised following argument by several delegates that many people contribute to C.C.F. funds in the $100 to $500 range who, for various reasons, do not wish their contributions made public.

"This is a seasonal 'low point' and one, I am sure, the Red Cross will overcome."

"We use much more blood now than before the war, and the Red Cross has done a marvelous job in supplying it. I think it would be very unwise to go back to a system of individual blood collection by the hospitals, if that meant abandoning the Red Cross voluntary plan."

WIDER CIRCLE

Mr. Masters pointed out that, when the blood bank ran low, hospital employees supplied blood. "Of course," he added, "you cannot go back too frequently to the same donors. The Red Cross can reach a wider circle of donors than we can."

The same situation exists in Veteran's and St. Joseph's hospitals in Victoria, and Resthaven Hospital, Sidney, all supplied by the Victoria Red Cross bank.

Red Cross officials believe one reason for the present shortage is the holiday season, but are quick to point out that "sickness, accident, and death take no holiday."

NEED GREATER

"In fact," said one administrator, "the possibility of emergency need for blood is greater when increased holiday highway traffic makes accidents more frequent."

Attempts to restock the bank will be made next week, when clinics will be held in Red Cross House, Fort Street, on Wednesday and Thursday.

At least 300 donors will be needed each day.

In addition, a two-day clinic will be held at H.M.C.S. Naden, on Monday and Tuesday.

Bennett Pledges No 'Secrecy' In Socred Orders-in-Council

Greeks Fire On Bulgarians

Gamma Island Scene Of Latest Outbreak

ATHENS, Greece, Aug. 7 (AP)—Greek troops opened fire this morning on Bulgarian soldiers on the Greek-claimed border island of Gamma in the Evros River, the Greek general staff announced.

A communique said the Greek fire— from machine-guns and mortars—was not returned.

(An Istanbul dispatch said that a top Turkish official at Adrianople, Turkish border town 10 miles from Gamma, reported that the firing continued for about one and one-half hours.)

The attack came after Bulgarian troops had been noticed on the island during Wednesday night, the announcement said. Earlier Wednesday the general staff had issued a communique saying no Bulgars had been seen on the island after expiration of an earlier Greek ultimatum demanding that all Bulgarian troops quit Gamma by 8 a.m.

Today's announcement said the United Nations peace sub-committee was present when the Greeks attacked, and that just prior to opening fire the Greeks warned the Bulgars by loudspeaker.

The island was the scene of a Bulgarian attack on a Greek patrol July 27. Three Greek soldiers were killed.

Murdoch Hints City Rowdies Servicemen

Ald. Brent Murdoch suggested at a city council finance committee meeting today that "a lot" of zoo-suiters roaming the downtown area at night are servicemen in "civies" who haven't anything else to do but look for trouble.

The alderman, who is also a police commissioner, said it was time the federal government provided a recreation centre here for service personnel.

He said the police department was faced with "a real, serious situation with servicemen" at one Chinatown cafe in particular. (See story, Page 13.)

Crash Victim

VANCOUVER, Aug. 7 (CP).—The head belpop of the Ritz Hotel in Vancouver has been identified as the victim of a head-on car-truck collision near Hope Wednesday night.

Communist Delegates Handed Stiff Rebukes

TORONTO, Aug. 7 (CP).—Communist delegates, rolling smoothly through the 18th International Workers Order conference on the United States, were jolted to a halt Wednesday.

The Soviet and Communist delegations ran head on into John A. MacAulay, Canadian conference chairman. Mr. MacAulay of Winnipeg had earlier warned that he would curb any discussion "with political undertones."

PREMIER THINKS RECOUNT 'IN PUBLIC INTEREST'

Premier W. A. C. Bennett today said "in the public interest" the Vancouver-Burrard recount should go ahead. Pointing out he was speaking as Social Credit Party leader and not as premier of the province, Premier Bennett said: "Up to this time the Vancouver-Burrard contest has been strictly a matter between two contestants. As leader of the Social Credit Party I think due to the great interest in the recount and in the public interest the recount should be proceeded with."

'Y' can't git blood outa a stone, but some folks would donate it th' blood bank if they were just a little bolder.

People are beginnin' t' date things from "back when they started th' Burrard recount."

Must be heady stuff, that Chinese food. Looks like what we need is a Gov'mint Chop Suey Control Board.

CIVIL SERVANTS RETURN TO FIVE-DAY WEEK FIGHT

British Columbia's 10,000 civil servants are laying plans to start pressing the new government for a five-day week, it was learned today.

Rebuffed by the old Liberal government in their fight for the five-day week throughout the civil service, the B.C. Government Employees' Association soon will ask the Social Credit government to institute the shorter week.

E. P. O'Connor, association secretary, is expected in Victoria shortly. He will confer with association heads and present the workers' request to the government.

The old government offered inside workers a five-day week on a four-month trial basis but refused to allow the same for outside workers and institution employees. It was suggested a five-day week for the others be studied.

The civil service rejected the proposal. Queried this week on the possibility of a five-day week for civil service, Premier W. A. C. Bennett merely said it will be studied.

Kamloops Girl Shot to Death

Slayer, Believed Victim's Father, Under Arrest

KAMLOOPS, B.C., Aug. 7 (CP).—The 17-year-old Japanese wife of a Chinese taxi driver was slain in her bedroom early today by three shotgun blasts.

Police later arrested a heavily-armed man, believed to be the girl's father, following a gun battle in downtown Kamloops. The man was carrying a shotgun, an ax, a home-made fire bomb and a bowie knife.

Mrs. John Bing, mother of a three-week-old son, was fatally shot while in her bed. She died in hospital an hour later.

The bedroom window was first shattered by an ax. The killer then thrust a shotgun through the broken window and fired three times. The third charge struck the girl in the back, apparently after she had rolled off the bed in a desperate attempt to escape.

Mrs. Bing was still conscious when police and ambulance attendants reached the scene but was paralyzed from the waist down.

Her baby was not in the bedroom with her. The boy was being cared for overnight by relatives.

R.C.M.P. took up the chase and cornered the killer on a downtown street. The assailant fired once at three constables and missed. Then he shot a hole through a parked taxi owned by the firm in which the murdered woman's husband is a partner.

Police jumped him as he swung the shotgun around and pinned him to the ground. They declined to reveal his name immediately. No motive for the killing was immediately advanced by police.

8 Killed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP).—An explosion of a jet plane aboard the United States carrier Boxer in Korean waters killed eight men and injured an unannounced number of others, the navy reported today.

Twelve jet planes were destroyed by raging fires that followed the explosion. Helicopters and lifeboats picked up 63 crew members driven overboard by the flames.

Later in plenary session the conference considered a joint British-Belgian resolution concerning alleged violations of the Geneva conventions which invited governments concerned "to have these charges examined on the basis of a common agreement."

CHAIRMAN CHALLENGED

General Nikolai Slavov, head of the Soviet delegation, said that the resolution was designed to throw "a shadow of doubt" on Chinese charges of United States atrocities in Korea. Mr. MacAulay broke in to warn him that he could not level charges against other governments. Gen. Slavov resumed and was again interrupted. When he challenged the chairman Mr. MacAulay reminded him: "This is not a debate. I am not being interrogated."

The British-Belgian resolution finally came up and was adopted 69 to 12 with the Soviet bloc nations opposing, and the Chinese Red Cross delegation abstaining.

'Confidential' Liquor Order Prompts Statement

Two pronouncements on Social Credit government administrative policy were made today by Premier W. A. C. Bennett, the first since his cabinet took over Saturday morning.

He declared all orders-in-council passed by the government will be open to public view, and that an "open and above the table" policy in government purchasing will be followed.

The Premier's declaration on orders-in-council came after Attorney-General Robert Bonner had released what was described as a secret order-in-council passed on July 22 by the former government in approving some liquor price increases.

It was the custom of the former government to place some orders-in-council, especially those dealing with financial matters, or staff salaries, on a "confidential" list.

'CONFIDENTIAL'

The liquor price order, dated July 22, did not come to light until August 4 after the increases had already gone into effect. It was still marked "confidential" in the provincial secretary's department.

"Everything is going to be done above the table," the Premier commented in stating that all orders will now be open to the public.

A three-point policy in government purchasing of supplies was outlined by the Premier, who pointed out he was not criticizing the purchasing commission but simply laying down the Social Credit policy.

It is as follows:

1. Preference to be given to all goods made in B.C. by B.C. labor and using B.C. materials.
2. All firms will be given equal right to tender on all government supplies.
3. Any unsuccessful tenders on any government purchases will have the right to inspect the successful tender seven days after it has been awarded.

The change from previous policy is in the last clause. B.C. preference has been a standard practice, so has equal tender rights. It was indicated that by allowing unsuccessful tenderer to examine successful bids it would lead to more close tendering on future contracts so that in the long run the government would save in costs.

It was reported that the combined sum covering both Israel and world Jewry would be paid to Israel in the form of goods. Israel then would retain the goods and pay the World Jewry delegation its share in cash.

PAYS FOR 18-YEAR-OLD 'CRIME'

Finn Who Joined Red Party To Be Deported from U.S.

BOSTON, Aug. 7 (AP).—A Finnish-born mill worker, who signed a Communist party membership application in 1934 because "they told me they wanted to win a strike in which I was involved," was ordered deported Wednesday.

Judge Charles E. Wyanski, Jr., ruled "with reluctance" that Carl A. Latvia, 49, who signed the application, paid 50 cents and "never heard from them again," must be deported to Finland.

Wyanski said that under the McCarran Anti-Subversives Act he was bound to uphold the deportation of Latvia.

The McCarran Act, passed by Congress in 1950 over President Truman's veto, was aimed at subversives. Among other things it authorizes deportation of aliens who have been members of any organization advocating violent overthrow of the U.S. government.

Latvia said at his home last night:

"An immigrant like me... I don't know right from wrong because I hadn't been here very long. Then 20 years later because I tell the truth they want to break up my family and take me away from the country. I love."

In 1949 Latvia, applying for U.S. citizenship, told immigration officials that he had joined the Communist Party in 1934 because he understood its aims were "organizing unions, and if there was a strike they appealed to all local groups to raise funds to help strikers."

NATION-WIDE POLL SUGGESTED

Native Sons Urge Quick Action To Authorize New Canadian Flag

ISLAND MAN LEADER-OF NATIVE SONS

WINNIPEG, Aug. 7 (CP).—T. A. Menzies of Courtenay, B.C., has been elected national president of the Native Sons of Canada, succeeding E. A. Carroll of Toronto.

Mr. Menzies was elected at the closed sessions of the group's national council convention which concluded Tuesday at Brereton Lake in southwestern Manitoba. C. C. Stewart of Winnipeg was elected first vice-president and Fred A. Bradt, Hamilton, second vice-president.

March, 1952, following questioning of a representative section of the Canadian population, indicated 46 per cent of Canadians were in favor of designing a new national flag; 30 per cent preferred to retain the Union Jack, only 14 per cent favored using the Red Ensign, and 10 per cent had no opinion on the matter.

The Sons resolved to request "the Prime Minister of Canada to authorize a new national flag for Canada, exclusively Canadian in design, as promised by the official Liberal party platform and as apparently approved by a majority of Canadians; or in the alternative, that the government take a vote of the electors of our country on this question, but not as a political issue."

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

PARADES AND PEOPLE

TAKING ADVANTAGE of a summer respite from more urgent duties I went over to Seattle last week to spend a few days with friends, and, as usual, enjoyed the brief contact with our neighbors to the south. My visit coincided with the Sound city's celebration of "Seafair," inaugurated several years ago to remind all who might be interested of the part played in its economy and social life by its proximity to the Pacific.

That meant, of course, a parade. And parades in Seattle, as with most American cities of any size, are on a scale staggering to a visitor from Canada.

HOURS LONG

IT TOOK TWO hours for this particular parade to pass a given point and wend its way down Fourth Avenue, so that if your business happened to necessitate your crossing that particular street on that Saturday morning—well, it was just too bad! You either had to make a wide detour or wait.

As I was unable to wait for two hours, I caught only glimpses of it. But I saw some of its spectacular floats, most of them dedicated to a nautical theme, no matter how remote the connection might appear to the uninitiated—all of them bearing the customary freight of pretty girls clothed principally in sun-tan.

MAJORETTES GALORE

AND TALKING OF pretty girls, I don't think I have ever seen such an endless array of majorettes. Every hundred yards or so they came along, in costumes of brilliant brevity, consisting of shimmering satin or sequined briefs, with ornate, epauletted and abbreviated tunics, helmets afflutter with plumes, and fancy, high-topped boots.

Nor have I ever seen so many young ones at the game. Many of them were mere tots, not much more than six or seven years old, but they all twined their glittering batons and stepped high like veterans, halting the parade at frequent intervals while they went into a series of intricate drills. After watching them for a few moments in the sweltering heat my heart went out to the younger fry who had to cut such capers for miles over the hard pavement.

CANADIANS SMART

NEEDLESS TO SAY, the three armed services were well represented in the parade, and I was much impressed by the women members of the American forces, including the Waves in their smart, cool-looking uniform of pale green striped denim with dark green caps.

But, call it prejudice if you will, the smartest contingent in that whole long parade, in my estimation, was that composed of our own Canadian naval detachment and the detachment of Royal Marines and naval ratings from the British flag-ship, H.M.S. Sheffield. There was a snap and unison about their marching which made them move as one man, and I am not at all ashamed to say that a little lump came up in my throat as I watched them.

ROYAL MARINE

LATER IN THE day while waiting to cross at an intersection, a much be-ribboned Royal Marine happened to be waiting, too. Of course, I spoke to him and found he was a native of Cardiff, Wales. He had been stationed in Bermuda and this was his first visit to the Pacific Coast.

When I asked what he thought about it, he replied that Seattle wasn't as "majestic" as he had anticipated. He liked San Francisco much better. And, he confessed, it was the public markets that intrigued him most. He had bought fruit whenever possible—and it isn't often possible on a Royal Marine's meagre pay! But the mere sight of so much meat and other lush food kept him in a continual state of amazement.

THAT EXCHANGE

SPEAKING OF PAY reminds me of one incident which occurred during my stay, and which annoyed me, especially in the light of the controversy that has been going on here over the question of premiums on the Canadian dollar. At a picture show I tendered the exact change, which included one Canadian nickel. The cashier pushed the nickel back, saying the theatre—the Fifth Avenue, by the way—didn't accept Canadian money!

On the other hand, one large department store into which I went for luncheon not only accepted Canadian money but gave me an extra four cents on the dollar in change. All of which proves that Seattle's attitude toward the exchange question is as varied as Victoria's.

SOUTHERN SUPPORT GROWS

Democrats Seen Solidly Behind Adlai Stevenson

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP).—There were new signs today that the Democratic party is uniting more solidly behind error Adlai E. Stevenson than it did behind President Truman. Senator Richard B. Russell of Georgia, one of the losers in the race for the nomination, said the Illinois governor will be elected President "by one of the largest majorities any man ever had." Russell, after a talk with Stevenson Thursday, predicted he will carry the entire south. He fore-saw no Dixie revolt such as the one that split the party in 1948.

South Carolina joined the growing list of southern states backing Stevenson Thursday. Georgia's Democratic executive committee pledged its electors to the governor, and Mississippi State Rights Democrats failed to win control of the party machinery—a good sign for Stevenson. Only Texas remains a question mark in the solid south.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Republican presidential nominee, continued building unity in his own party. He booked conferences today with two more pre-convention Taft supporters—Governor Len B. Jordan of Idaho and George T. Hansen, the party's national committeeman from Utah.

The general's headquarters was reportedly cheered by developments pointing to party unity—particularly by signs that bitterness in Ohio was fading.

Even while mending party fences, Eisenhower was busy mapping campaign strategy. He confers with top party leaders today and Saturday on plans for the campaign.

EXETER, Eng. (CP).—A political organizer, a solicitor and a student formed a company here to help people who forget birthday and wedding anniversaries. For a small sum and a list of dates, they provide eight reminders in advance.

Court Orders Burrard Recount

Supreme Court Grants C.C.F. Request; To Be Held Immediately

VANCOUVER, Aug. 7 (CP).—A recount was ordered late Wednesday for Vancouver-Burrard riding, where a C.C.F. victory would reverse the Social Credit-C.C.F. standing in the British Columbia Legislature.

A C.C.F. victory there would give the party 19 seats to 18 for the Social Credit Party, sworn in Friday as B.C.'s new government.

A recount "forthwith" was ordered in supreme court by Mr. Justice J. V. Cline, although a writ declaring Social Credit elected in the riding has already been sent to Victoria.

The present standing in the Legislature, following the defeat June 12 of the Liberal administration, is Social Credit 19, C.C.F. 18, Liberals seven, Progressive Conservative three and Labor one.

Original figures for Vancouver-Burrard show Social Credit's Bert Price winning by 246 votes over C.C.F. candidate Grant MacNeil.

Mr. Justice Cline granted a C.C.F. application for a writ to force County Court Judge J. A. McGeer to conduct the recount on the riding's ballot B.

ERRED IN REFUSAL

In an oral judgment, the justice ruled that Judge McGeer erred in refusing a recount because of a technical error in the original C.C.F. application.

The original application incorrectly designated the riding as Burrard instead of Vancouver-Burrard.

The C.C.F. took its application to the Appeal Court in Victoria, but the court ruled it had no jurisdiction under the Elections Act to hear the case.

Basis of the ruling was that an appeal can be launched only after completion of a recount, and no recount was ordered by Judge McGeer.

In his judgment, Mr. Justice Cline questioned the authority of the returning officer to forward the election writ to Victoria while the case was still before the courts. It was understood the writ will be held in abeyance until after the recount.

FREE SUSPECTS IN DRUMMOND MURDER CASE

LURS, France, Aug. 7 (Reuters).—Police early today released two suspects after grilling them for hours on the triple killing of Sir Jack Drummond, British food scientist, and his wife and young daughter Tuesday.

The men, a tramp and an Italian farm laborer, both had cast-iron alibis. The mystery surrounding the brutal roadside shooting deepened with the disclosure that nothing was stolen. Police now are working on the theory that the killing might have been the act of a maniac.

The murdered family will be buried today on the outskirts of Forcalquier, nearest large town.

VITAL AREA

Belgium is essentially a manufacturing country but agriculture and forestry are also important industries there.

Truman declined to comment on reports that Ellis G. Arnall is preparing to quit as price stabilizer.

Arnall went to the White House Wednesday bearing his resignation, effective Sept. 1, and a report to Truman that food prices again are rising sharply.

Arnall said he told the President it may be necessary to call Congress back into special session "if food prices continue to get out of hand and skyrocket."

NO PROLETARIAN SHOW

Queen Receives Andrei Gromyko

LONDON, Aug. 7 (AP).—Andrei Gromyko, Russia's new ambassador to Britain, rode in a gilded royal coach to Buckingham Palace today and presented his credentials to the Queen.

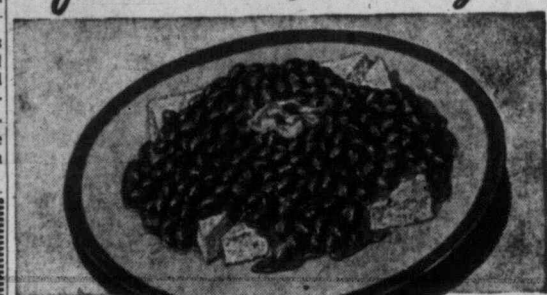

There was nothing proletarian about the show. It was conducted in an atmosphere of cast-iron dignity that even an unruly horse could not disturb.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden introduced Gromyko to the Queen. The Russian envoy spent 20 minutes at the palace. He was accompanied by seven senior embassy officials and and got the big bay quieted down. A crowd gathered outside Buckingham Palace and quietly watched Gromyko enter and depart.

Gromyko was received with shouts of "Go home" when he arrived in London July 28. He replaced Georgi N. Zarubin, who has been appointed Soviet ambassador to the United States.

HERE, THERE and EVERYWHERE

Compiled from AP, CP, UP and BUP Wires

ARRESTED—A 39-year-old Vancouver contractor today was charged with the theft Saturday of two diamond rings and a diamond brooch valued at $3,100 from a show window of a downtown jewelry store.

Archie Robb was arrested Wednesday night and picked out of an identification lineup by salesman F. R. Hunt.

Investigation has so far failed to turn up the stolen gems.

RESTING—In Hollywood veteran British film and stage actor Nigel Bruce was reported "resting easily" today after a heart attack at his Hollywood home.

The 57-year-old actor was stricken Tuesday.

Meanwhile, the wife of folk singer Burl Ives says Ives is in serious condition from virus pneumonia in a Honolulu hospital. Mrs. Ives says her husband has postponed all plans for a world tour which was scheduled to begin next month in Scotland.

MISSING—A United States navy Mariner plane with 13 persons aboard was missing tonight on a patrol flight.

Headquarters of Rear Admiral Richard H. Cruzen, navy commander in the Philippines, said a wide search was launched for the plane late today but the hunt was halted temporarily by darkness.

A PASSENGER aboard the Dutch liner Veendam, Patricia Ann Partridge, above, disappeared when the ship was in mid-Atlantic. She left behind a note hinting at suicide. Her 16-year-old sister Harriet was first to note her absence. The ship retraced its course for nearly nine hours but found no trace of the missing girl.

COLLIDE—Two Greek freighters collided in the English Channel Wednesday night and two British tugs, including the well-known Turmoll, have rushed to their assistance.

It was the Turmoll which nearly towed the ill-fated "Flying Enterprise" to safety last January before the vessel finally sank.

TOUR—Air Vice-Marshal C. R. Slemmon, senior R.C.A.F. officer at Central European air headquarters in France today began a 19-day tour of Europe to organize an "aggressor" air force for manoeuvres later this year.

He will command the bandit force himself, a headquarters statement said.

Slemmon will visit Brussels, The Hague, Copenhagen, Oslo, Hamburg, Paris, Pisa, Rome and Florence.

The R.C.A.F. officer holds a consultative post on the staff of central European commander Lt. Gen. Lauris Norstad.

BOYCOTT—South Africa's Housewives' League today called for a country-wide boycott of Japanese goods in protest against prison sentences given two British sailors by a Japanese court.

The jailing of the two sailors, sentenced to two and one-half years for stealing a taxi, was the first in which United Nations troops had been tried by a Japanese court.

Mrs. H. M. Gibling, chairman of the Durban Branch of the League, said South African women were enraged at the severity of the sentence and would stop buying Japanese goods to show their displeasure.

ACCUSED—In Korea Communist staff officers today accused the United Nations command of shelling the Panmunjom truce talks site Aug. 2, but a U.N. staff officer said there was no evidence to prove it.

Korean truce negotiations are in recess until Monday.

A-Bomb Orphans

Hiroko Tomita (left) and Tadami Atoguchi (right), born just minutes before the atomic bomb explosion on Hiroshima in 1945, begin lessons with a school teacher seven years later. Orphaned by the bomb, they and other Japanese children are top research subjects for medical researchers.

SEVEN YEARS AFTER

Atom Bomb Effects Now Hitting Victims

BY ELENOR SPALDING
HIROSHIMA, Japan, Aug. 7 (NEA)—On the seventh anniversary of the atomic bombing of Hiroshima, illnesses caused by atomic radiation are just now showing up among some of the victims.

American medical scientists of the Atomic Bomb Casualty Commission report a "few" cases of leukemia and "a definite incidence" of eye cataracts among people who had reason to assume they had escaped the worst consequences of the holocaust.

If the United States is atom-bombed, American doctors will be treating the victims on the basis of information supplied by the Japanese survivors of the first atom bombing.

The A.B.C.C., set up by the U.S.

to gather the first authoritative knowledge on the human effects of an atomic bombing, expects to be working another 10 years collecting and analyzing mountains of facts.

Thousands of Japanese who experienced the disaster, and children who have known only peace, come regularly for exhaustive examinations to the A.B.C.C. clinic on a hilltop overlooking the rebuilt city.

Medical researchers stress that it will take years of study before they can make an authoritative report on the long-term consequences of exposure to atomic radiation. How many cases of leukemia and cataract would have occurred in Hiroshima without the atomic bombing? What is yet to develop?

Progressive-Conservatives Gain Second Seat in Alberta Election

EDMONTON, Aug. 7 (CP)—The Social Credit party, returned by a sweeping majority in Tuesday's Alberta general election, today strengthened its legislative muscle with the addition of two more members in the seven-seat Edmonton riding.

The Liberals and Progressive Conservatives picked up one seat.

A marathon count under proportional representation lasting 36 hours decided the four seats for which no candidates established sufficient majorities for election on the first count.

It took 24 counts to elect the fourth man, Social Creditor Dr. J. Donovan Ross. The remaining three were elected on the 26th count. They were liberal Harold Tanner, Conservative J. Percy Page and Social Creditor Edgar Gerhart.

Three members—Premier E. C. Manning, Liberal leader J. Harper Prowse and C.C.F. leader Elmer Roper—were elected on the first count.

With the completion of the Edmonton count, the standing was:

Elected—
Social Credit	47
Liberal	3
Progressive Conservative	2
C.C.F.	1
Independent Social Credit	1
Leading—
Social Credit	4
Liberal	2
C.C.F.	1
Total	61

The election of Mr. Page, opposition leader in the 1940-41 legislature, when he headed the independent movement, gave the Progressive Conservatives a second seat in the new House. Paul Brecken was elected in Calgary.

These were the first Progressive Conservative electoral successes in Alberta provincial politics since 1935.

The election of Mr. Tanner, an Edmonton city alderman, assured the Liberals of at least as much strength in the new House as in the old. Grouard, the Liberals' third seat in the last legislature, still is in doubt.

The C.C.F., which had two seats in the last House, lost one of them when A. J. E. Liesemer was defeated in Calgary. However, a C.C.F. candidate held a narrow lead in Willingdon, where the issue will be decided on a second count.

A New Liquor Law

IN THE PRESENT STATE OF POLITICAL confusion the newly-elected legislature should not forget the only clear decisions of the electorate. One was in favor of daylight saving, a simple issue settled decisively and requiring no further debate in the legislature. The other was in favor of changing the existing liquor law.

As was observed here when it was announced, the liquor question put to the voters was vague and unsatisfactory and seemed to be loaded in favor of the present beer parlor system. The voters were given no chance to say what kind of liquor system they desired. But at least they made it clear beyond all question that they were against the existing system.

The new legislature has thus received from the voters a positive instruction to change the law but no direction as to how the law should be changed. The legislature has a free hand to re-make the system as it thinks desirable.

While its hand is free, we think it is bound to assume both from the vote on the plebiscite and from the obvious sentiments of the people that British Columbia does not desire any system which is calculated to increase the consumption of drink. On the contrary, we believe that the people mainly voted against the existing system because, instead of producing the "moderation" which it promised, it encouraged maximum drinking under the worst conditions. True moderation in the use of alcohol undoubtedly is the wish of the public at large and should be the objective of the legislature.

In a problem so complex—and as old as civilization—the legislature cannot be expected to make a quick decision. It will have to consider various options, ranging from the limited cocktail bars of Ontario, for example, to the sale of beer and perhaps wine with meals. Certainly as a minimum the plebiscite can only be interpreted as meaning that the public has rejected any system by which beer can be sold (apart from government stores) only if the drinker is forbidden to eat. That piece of long-standing nonsense has been decisively condemned by the voters.

The question for the legislature to consider, therefore, is not whether some liquor should be served with meals but what kind of liquor and under what conditions.

We doubt that the public desires the establishment of a few luxurious bars where only the rich can purchase liquor, paying mostly for the decorations and atmosphere. On the other hand, it is equally doubtful that the public wishes bars opened on every corner, or the sale of spirits in every second restaurant.

Since no sure solution has ever been found anywhere for the ancient problem of liquor, some kind of compromise is the best we can hope for. Perhaps the best available compromise would be the sale of beer and wine in all eating places able to offer a certain standard of service and responsibility, with hard liquor confined to a smaller group of establishments attracting only those who want hard liquor and can pay for it.

In any case it is to be hoped that the new legislature will consider liquor as a non-partisan issue. No party has taken a positive stand one way or the other on liquor policy. None is committed to any particular system. Wisely or unwisely, liquor was removed from party politics with the first liquor plebiscite of 1920. Assuredly in its present fragmented state party politics is in no position to divide itself still further on these issues. The new legislature can safely forget partisan considerations altogether in uniting to devise the best possible liquor law.

The Theory of Barter

THE THOUGHTFUL VANCOUVER Province, grappling with the economic mysteries of these times, notes that the Canadian government is planning to buy a $20,000,000 aircraft carrier from Britain. Why, asks The Province, doesn't Canada trade some surplus Canadian foodstuffs for this vessel and possibly for others? Why not a straight barter of Canadian food, like our accumulated B.C. salmon and Mr. Gardiner's famous pork, for British weapons and other things?

All this seems quite simple to The Province but it overlooks the obvious fact that already Canada is trading food for British goods of all sorts. When Canada pays Britain $20,000,000 for an aircraft carrier what happens to those twenty millions of dollars? Are they somehow lost or sunk in the Atlantic? Of course not. They come right back to Canada in the purchase of Canadian goods. Every hard North American dollar, after going out into the world to buy foreign goods, returns to this continent as surely as a homing pigeon.

Actually in the present year Canada is receiving more dollars from Britain than it is spending there because Britain is buying more goods from us than it is selling to us, to the amount of something over $200 millions. Some of the dollars which Britain earns in the United States or elsewhere in the dollar area are coming to Canada simply because Canada can supply the goods that Britain needs.

In this process Britain buys from us what it wants. It can buy our fish, our lumber or something else, as it decides. It is not confined by barter to the products that we are anxious to unload. We cannot expect Britain to buy at our convenience or at our prices if it wants something else, or can secure a lower price somewhere else. Through the mechanism of money Britain has freedom of choice and with its aircraft carrier, for example, buys what seems most desirable to it.

On the other hand, when Britain pays us for goods in money we can use that money to buy what and where we like. If we barter goods, however, we must take certain goods in return whether we want them or not, whether the price is satisfactory or not.

For that reason barter is the crudest and most unsatisfactory method of trade. It confines trade to a few articles. It usually prices them far above the world price. It antagonizes and invites retaliation from nations not admitted to the bargain and finally it produces the trading methods of Hitler's Reich, which took foodstuffs from the Balkan countries and paid in aspirin and razor blades.

The Province is quite right in urging us to buy more British goods. If they are the goods we want and are offered at competitive prices. But we cannot expand the volume of trade with Britain or any other country by applying the straight-jacket of barter.

Two Faces of the East

TWO recent news items portray two widely varying aspects of the Far East of today.

The first is from Japan, and tells how a Japanese court, feeling its newly-acquired independence of foreign military domination as a result of the peace treaty, sentenced two British sailors to two and a half years in prison for robbing a Kobe taxi driver of his car and about five dollars.

British naval authorities had asked that the men be turned over to them, but had been refused. And although the British consul at Kobe said he would not appeal the cases, the Foreign Office in London was quick to declare the sentences "excessive and unjustified."

The extent to which Japanese officials may have been suffering continued provocation from such crimes as that mentioned is not known. But there seems little doubt that Japanese sovereignty is going to be exercised to the full, now that Japan is no longer an occupied enemy country. Strained relations could quickly reappear if the trend were carried too far.

On the other hand, westerners must stand humbled before the reaction of two Korean men to sorry treatment they received at the hands of a Canadian soldier. The man in question has been sentenced by a Canadian court martial to three years imprisonment on a charge of manslaughter. An original charge of murder was dropped when the husband and brother of the woman he killed while on a drunken spree pleaded for clemency for the culprit.

"A mistake is the mother of success," the aged husband told the court. "Every man is entitled to make one mistake. This boy made his. Take this young soldier, give him a better education so he may continue the fight for peace." And the brother echoed the plea: "If he is punished he cannot fight for Korea and the free nations. Fighting is the big matter in the world today—not this private matter."

With those words these two elderly Koreans reached heights of Christian charity and altruism which we would find it hard to attain. They swallowed their own sorrow, they buried the dead, and looked only to what might be done for the young and the living—and for the free world. We may teach the Koreans much, but they may have even more for us to learn.

A Warning Might Help

WHEREAS THE MOTOR VEHICLES Branch can be justly proud of the objectiveness and thoroughness of its examinations for new drivers, it has been suggested that it could carry out its excellent ideas one step further in the interests of traffic safety.

Under the present rules a person wishing to learn to drive a car must first write the required examination and submit himself to vision tests, tests for reflexes and so on. The successful candidate is then issued an interim driving license which allows him to drive an automobile while a bona fide license-holder sits in the seat besides him.

As far as it goes this is excellent, but as yet nothing has been done to show other motorists that the person at the wheel is under instruction and should, therefore, be given a wide berth and treated with consideration.

May it be suggested that a sign bearing the word "Learning" or "Under Instruction" be issued with the beginner's license. The sign should be of adequate size for easy reading and hung in a prominent position on the car. The sign would be turned in when the beginner had passed his final driving test and been issued his permanent license. Commercial driving schools, have found it expedient to display such warnings.

In this manner motorists would be made aware of the beginner on the roads and helped to avert embarrassment and unnecessary risk of accident.

LOOSE ENDS

The Tyrant

BY BRUCE HUTCHISON

ACCORDING to the public prints, the Secretaries of the World will shortly lay down a written Code of Behaviour for Executives. This is quite unnecessary. Every executive already lives by an unwritten Code of Behaviour devised by the Secretaries, who rule the world.

The myth that the Executives have any control of business, or any control of the Secretaries, is only maintained for ceremonial purposes. After all, having lost all his real power to some young woman who is too smart for him, the Executive must be left with some harmless illusion. In common humanity he must be allowed to imagine that he earns his salary.

THE POWER of the Secretaries is the most dangerous kind of power because it is a secret power and it will be lost if the Secretaries are foolish enough to bring it into the open. Their Code of Behaviour has reduced the Executive to the status of a serf until he cannot even call his telephone his own and never knows how much money he has in the bank.

If this secret system of control, this vast and proliferating secretarial revolution, is ever formalized then the serf may revolt, the worm may turn and the Executive may begin at last to execute. Like any other ruling class, the Secretaries should be careful lest they go too far.

THERE IS NOTHING so pathetic as the picture of the great Executive, with all the outer trappings of power, actually twisted about the finger of a pretty girl, a finger usually wearing the engagement ring which will presently remove her from service and leave the Executive helpless.

After watching many Executives and being briefly an Executive myself (until I admitted I was beaten and retired to the simpler tasks of farming, carpentry and stone masonry) I am convinced that the Executive has become a mere vestigial organ of the economy, much like the British House of Lords and the Canadian Senate in politics. The only difference is that the Senators and Lords know that they are vestiges while the Executive still imagines that he amounts to something.

THIS INTERNAL revolution, by which some trail-looking female rules a great economic empire, was not accomplished without great skill and daring. A diabolical business. The Secretaries, indeed, could teach the Communists their own business of revolution, for the Communists have required over thirty years of bloodshed to get where they are now while the Secretaries have installed their dictatorship without a single act of violence, though with a mental cruelty which makes Stalin look like an amateur, of a Secretary.

BY THEIR OWN CODE of Behaviour the Secretaries must first know far more than the Executive. This, in most cases, is not difficult. Any normally intelligent girl can master a business in a week or two while the Executive is performing his vital function of entertaining other Executives to lunch or serving cocktails to some customer. Within a month, if she is worth her salt, the Secretary not only knows all about the business but is keeping all the facts from the Executive, who is too busy to listen to them and doesn't want to hear them in any case. The Secretaries' first duty, in short, is to shield her boss from life.

Her second duty is to shield the business and the public from the boss. No executive could survive for a single day if the business and the public knew what he was like, a poor quivering piece of dough in a pair of those soft, manured and ruthless hands.

THE GOOD SECRETARY, therefore, will make her boss appear to everyone but herself as the most competent man in the world. She will assure all callers that he is in conference when he is drinking coffee with his feet on the desk or practising golf shots on the carpet. She will inform his colleagues that he has some vital document under study when she knows that it has been lying for weeks, under a pile of magazines and horse racing forms.

SHE WILL fend off his wife, his children and his creditors with honeyed excuses. She will keep his cheque book balanced and sometimes even tell him how much money he owns. She will buy him railway and airplane tickets and somehow manage to deliver him, confused and half-conscious, to the station and the airport and advise him at the last moment where he is going and what business he is supposed to transact. She will write his speeches and correct his mistakes in grammar.

In short, she will contrive to make him look like a man when he is only a faintly disguised Executive.

All this involves heavy sacrifices for the Secretary. She must drill herself never to tell the truth. She must appear cool when her internal temperature is over boiling point. She must smile when she is in a rage. She must never show her contempt for the broken creature who pretends to be her boss.

MANY WOMEN break down under this strain, surrender and beat a retreat into the easier business of matrimony. But a girl who can stand the strain of doing all the work while the Executive draws the pay has her reward. She has what every woman really wants, absolute power. If she is wise she will not destroy that power by admitting it for a moment. Once the grisly secret of modern business is out the Executives, with one last burst of manhood, may throw off their chains, go to work and draw their salaries and that will be the end of the most successful conspiracy of the ages.

OUTSIDE AID

Evidently, the members of the cabinet who recently were sworn in by The Rt. Hon. Clarence Wallace, lieutenant-governor of this province, under oath, not to divulge any matter affecting the administration of this province, would, therefore, be unable to give any information, regarding any discussion in any cabinet meeting, to the attorney general or the minister of finance—these not being members of parliament, elected by the electorate of this province in the recent provincial election.

I submit, therefore, that Mr. Bennett, as the present premier of this province would have been well advised to have appointed two of his colleagues to fill the important posts of attorney general and minister of finance, rather than from an outside source—thus preventing the present dilemma, and tacitly admitting that no members of the present Social Credit government are qualified to fill the above posts.

NOT FROM APES

Is it not abundantly clear that the formidable list of distinguished scientists quoted in my previous letter maintain that there is not the slightest proof that the creatures your correspondent refers to were ape men or that ape men ever existed? There is a lot of supposition but supposition is not proof and never will be.

Former demonstrator of anatomy at the University of Toronto, Dr. E. R. Hooper, in his book, "Does Science Support Evolution" makes mincemeat of the whole matter, tails included! Should anybody be unkind enough to maintain that his ancestors were apes, he is of course free to do so. But fortunately for him he cannot, according to the impressive authorities cited, proved it.

What this evolutionary theory with its attendant notion of non-accountability has done to our youth—and not only to our youth—is known to many.

Regarding the alleged myth: Dr.

Harry Rimmer until his death offered a sizeable sum of money to anybody who could prove according to the laws of evidence that there is scientific error in the Holy Scriptures. A claim was made and the atheistic claimant engaged atheistic counsel and took his case to court in the City of New York. After hearing so-called evidence in support of the claim the judge threw the case out. Finis.

ALARM SOUNDED

"It is an alert I am sounding. Yet it is more than an alert; it is an alarm." Touching on the apparent prosperity of the people in the great metropolis the speaker surveyed the world situation and added:

"I warn you that without an intense national realization of our economic position, and by all classes, we shall find it very hard to reach that security without which all that we have achieved and all that we possess, and all our glories, might quite rapidly become nothing." Then lifting the camouflage that veils world economic disorder and moral degradation this sage exploded: "What I wonder at is whether they have realized the treacherous trap-door on which it all stands."

These are the words of one who has unexcelled facilities to world intelligence, plus his acknowledged wisdom and genius to appraise it—Winston Churchill. Also brothers, top-notch commentators on world affairs, say: "The British economic situation is increasingly appalling, but it is in Iran that the unwatched pot is really beginning to boil furiously."

Here we are given the essence of oft-repeated warnings so earnestly pleaded in Holy Writ. It is sheer folly to deny the wisdom of it and ignore the impending peril. So let us take heed and, led by our representatives of church and state in a national act of submission to God's governance, claim the Divine promise of protection from the rapidly approaching catastrophe. In order to escape that treacherous trap-door this course is a must—and soon.

C. M. CADWALLADER,

Skin-Clad Painted Savages? No!

Divestment of that age-old fable about the early Britons in Caesar's time being skin-clad painted savages, is long overdue, and you, Sir, are to be publicly thanked for printing Mr. Cadwallader's expose.

To substantiate one of his statements, I invite anyone interested to view a photo of the Irish gold work discovered by Sir Flinders Petrie and which was wrought about 2,300 years ago and now in the British Museum.

What skillful savages they must have been! And I would like all and sundry to note the following remarks of the late Dr. Goard, distinguished English scholar and author:

"Outstanding in this modern day, above all such savages which have ever been foisted upon a people is the 'generally accepted' statement that the Britons of the time of Julius Caesar, and of the later Roman period, were a race of skin-clad painted savages. The fact is that they were one of the most cultured people in the world, vying with the Scythians and Greeks in their civilization and culture."

"The strange thing is that the part has been put over upon, and has been accepted by, even the modern scholars of the British people concerning themselves. One can understand one people misrepresenting another through prejudice against foreigners but wherever in the world of history was it elsewhere written that a people accepted such a travesty about themselves?"

Much of the book stock on Parliament Hill is of no real use to parliamentarians in their own work, and could be transferred to another place. The obvious solution will be provided when a National Library is built. A bill for this project came before parliament in May, and was approved. But the Prime Minister presented no estimate of cost. He suggested an architect's competition for the design, and said the government would ask parliament for funds when there was a prospect of construction being commenced.

Ike Must Unify His Forces

By JOSEPH AND STEWART ALSOP
From Washington

A GREAT many voters—perhaps enough to determine the outcome of the election—are anxiously awaiting the answer to a simple question. What is Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower going to do about Wisconsin's Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy?

Eisenhower and his chief advisers, according to Republican leaders close to the Eisenhower high command, have now agreed on at least a tentative answer. The Eisenhower plan for dealing with McCarthy and McCarthyism starts with a major speech early in the campaign. In this speech Eisenhower will warn solemnly of the dangers of internal subversion and Communist infiltration into the government. But at the same time he will also voice an equally solemn warning of the dangers of indiscriminate hate-mongering and character assassination.

He will not mention McCarthy by name, but his meaning will be clear enough. It will become clearer as time goes on, in that Eisenhower does not intend, according to this present plan, to appear at all in McCarthy's native Wisconsin. Eisenhower also at present does not plan to appear in Indiana, where Sen. William Jenner is running for re-election.

The reason Jenner, among several other cut-rate McCarthy's, has also been chosen to receive the silent treatment from Eisenhower is rather obvious. McCarthy has as much said that Gen. George Marshall is a traitor, while Jenner has said it outright, calling Marshall "a living lie" and "a front man for traitors." Marshall is, of course, deeply admired and respected by Eisenhower, who perhaps owes more to Marshall than to any other man.

The silent treatment for McCarthy and Jenner is only the first part of this plan, however. The second part is to do everything possible, from personal appeal to public endorsement, to appease the extreme right wing of the party. Thus Sen. Everett Dirksen, the protégé of Chicago's Col. Robert R. McCormick, has been invited to take his place in the inner Eisenhower circle.

Dirksen bitterly attacked Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, and by implication the whole moderate wing of the Republican party, at the recent convention. He used an unpleasant mixture of McCarthyism and phony evangelism in his election campaign in 1950. Wisconsin's powerful Tom Coleman, a chief McCarthy backer, is also to be appeased. Wayne J. Hood, a Coleman aide, and a McCarthy man, has been made executive director of the Republican National Committee.

Meanwhile, the vice-presidential nominee, Sen. Richard Nixon, has been given the special assignment of binding up the wounds inflicted on the right wing of the party at the convention. Nixon set to with a will at the recent convention in Sen. Robert A. Taft's native Ohio, distributing handsome compliments wholesale to the Taftites present.

In short, the intention is to try to isolate McCarthy and Jenner only, and to unite the rest of the party firmly behind Eisenhower. It remains to be seen whether the plan will work. The Eisenhower managers are certainly wise to avoid the mistake made by Wendell Willkie, who conspicuously snubbed the regular leaders and leaned heavily on his amateur admirers, undoubtedly losing hundreds of thousands of votes.

The outcome really depends on whether Eisenhower will remain true to himself. If he does so, it is downright impossible to imagine Eisenhower, a warm-hearted man and a sincere idealist who instinctively hates the mean and second rate, embracing a McCarthy or a Jenner. And in this situation as in so many others in this campaign, being true to himself is undoubtedly the best politics Eisenhower can play.

Ups and Downs

By BRIAN TOBIN

"I SEE," said the Elevator Man, "that a bunch of superstitious peasants on Formosa got worried the other night when a partial eclipse of the moon took place. They were afraid the moon was going to disappear altogether. So they got out with drums and firecrackers to stop it. And the funny thing is, their method worked. As soon as the noise really got under way the eclipse slowed up. Before long the shadow on the moon got smaller and smaller and soon the old disc was clear again. So THAT for our vaunted science. Those Formosans know a thing or two about how to handle an eclipse. Going up!

"Of course," said the Elevator Man, "some doubter is going to pop up and say, 'Aw, it wasn't the drums and firecrackers at all. The eclipse would have ended by itself anyway.' But how do you know? We use the same principle every day. We try Prof. McSomebody's Common Cough Cure. And sure enough a few days later our cold clears up. We guarantee a continuation of our good luck by keeping out from under ladders, throwing spilled salt over our shoulders, and not taking chances by looking at the new moon through a window. These are all tried and true safeguards, and the Formosans would probably be a lot better off if somebody went over and told them all about it. Going down!

"You can get," said the Elevator Man, "into all kinds of mix-ups from thinking that what goes before necessarily causes what follows behind. It was that kind of thinking that worried the fellows who got a letter from his local branch of the Legion. 'You are invited to be one of the speakers at our Remembrance Day service,' the letter said. 'The program will include a talk by the Mayor, a recitation by a high school pupil, your talk and then the firing squad.'"

Joint Military Staff Key Move

HONOLULU, Aug. 7 (AP)—Foreign ministers of the United States, Australia and New Zealand today launched the first formal peacetime system of military co-operation among the three countries.

However, they adopted a "go-slow" policy on bringing other non-Communist Pacific countries into the security organization.

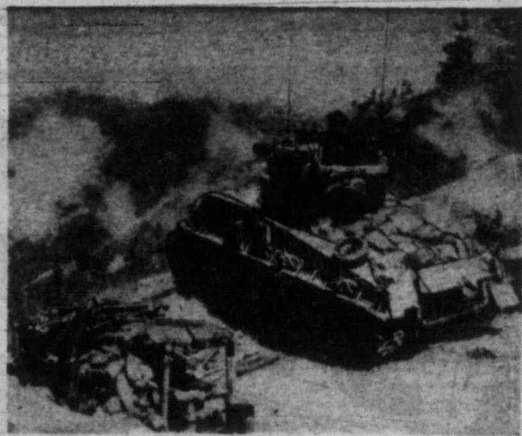

That would be premature, said a communiqué issued after they adjourned their three-day conference Wednesday night. But they promised that other countries will be consulted closely.

The foreign minister of one interested country not present, Joaquin Elizalde of the Philippines, said in Manila that his country and Japan may join the Anzus powers soon in a five-power conference to co-ordinate Pacific defense against Communism.

The U.S. secretary of state, Dean Acheson, told reporters the Anzus meetings had been "very intimate, very informal," and "we are all very happy."

Richard G. Casey, Australian minister for external affairs, said the sessions were without argument or maneuvering for position. T. Clifton Webb, New Zealand's foreign minister, said: "We are very appreciative to the U.S. and we have been taken completely into their confidence and thinking."

Key step to implement last year's three-power treaty signed in San Francisco was the creation of a joint military staff to meet periodically at Pearl Harbor, Melbourne and Wellington, N.Z.

Victoria Daily Times THURSDAY, AUG. 7, 1952

NANAIMO, Aug. 7.—When Departure Bay Ratepayers' Association asked the city council for information regarding the city pound, both the association and the council were startled by the answers received.

"As to the exact location of the pound at the moment," said Mayor Earle C. Westwood, "I don't know."

"I'm doubtful myself as to the location," added Ald. Charles Wharton.

Uranium Prospectors Report 'Mother Lode'

EDMONTON, Aug. 7 (CP).—Four prospectors have reported discovery of what they claim to be the "mother lode" to the uranium deposits that have stirred mining interest in the Goldfields and Beaverlodge areas of northwestern Saskatchewan.

The men, who filed their claims in Edmonton late last week, said their find is on the Alberta side of the Alberta-Saskatchewan border and only a quarter of a mile from deep water along the north of Lake Athabasca, straddling the boundary.

It lies in an unsurveyed township 40 miles west of Black Bay, where the new uranium city now is the focal point of Saskatchewan's biggest claims-staking rush.

North Hayes, spokesman for the quartet, said that samples of the find had been forwarded to Ottawa and a telegram report indicated they were of high uranium content.

Hayes, a native of Corcoran, Calif., and more recently a northern Alberta railroader, said the group had found uranium-bearing outcroppings ranging up to seven feet in width. Located with the outcroppings were large quantities of a pinkish-hued rock similar to the rock from which uranium production is being taken at Goldfields, Sask., 50 miles east.

The prospectors said that radiations from the uranium were so intense that they registered on a geiger counter held eight feet above the ground level, whereas these gadgets ordinarily had to be held close to the uranium-bearing rock formations to obtain registrations.

Good Salmon Pickin's Off Qualicum

A pair of ardent saltwater anglers, Cec Fletcher (left) and Bernie Kjekstad, found a seventh heaven on a recent fishing trip. The pair tested the waters off Qualicum Beach and came home with the catch they are exhibiting here. The biggest fish went 27 pounds, two were 15 pounds each and the other two were six pounds each. The total weight of 69 pounds was more than enough to bring smiles of pride to the faces of the anglers.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

Ever hear of a team being too successful?

That the position the Victoria Tyes find themselves in at the moment.

Off and running with the W.I.L. pennant firmly in their grasp the Tyes are head and shoulders above the W.I.L. field wallowing in their wake.

But what good it is doing them?

The charge made by club directors is that baseball fans asked for a winner, but now that they've got one in the Tyes, they're doing nothing about it. Not enough, at any rate.

Actually the charge, as presented, is unjust in its severity as attendance is up 50 per cent this year over last and all signs point to a season's crowd mark of 115,000.

People don't like being scolded in this manner when figures refute the charges, even though the same fans must feel, in their own mind, that the Tyes, as compared to other W.I.L. clubs from the city in the horrid past, are fully deserving of added patronage.

Club president Arthur Cox was deep in Monday night as he surveyed the picture, the double emphasis failing to reflect what to all intent is a championship club.

Cox didn't say so, but he intimated that unless attendance showed a marked increase during the latter part of the season, it would be rather futile to attempt to save baseball all over again as happened this spring.

What Arthur meant was that Victoria baseball fans have not been supporting their club—and it is their club—like they should.

Attendance Goal Set at 130,000

"I don't know what we can do to get fans out to the park," he said. "We've given 'em a winner. We've given 'em a hustling club, but we still need more support."

He set 130,000 as the goal for the season saying, "If we reach that mark, we'll wipe out most of last year's debts and break even on the present season."

Poor receipts on the road are one of the causes of the Tyes' plight, no team being able to carry on successfully unless there is a general attendance increase throughout the league.

If, for example, the Tyes were operating on home gate receipts alone, as they were last year, financial success would be assured. But such is not the case.

Only Victoria, Spokane and Vancouver likely to average 1,500 a game.

According to club officials this won't be enough. To reach 130,000 the Tyes must average 2,000 a night from here on in.

What Arthur didn't mention was that the Tyes, beside being all that has been asked of them, have in Cec Garriott the best manager in the W.I.L. Any arguments?

They have in Jim Clark, the best shortstop in the W.I.L. and, in fielding, we doubt if he has few peers on the coast and that includes the entire Coast League.

They have in Ben Lorino and Jehoshua Heft two of the best pitchers in the league and before Cal McVinn left for Portland, they owned title to the best three.

One could go right down the line-up and pick out standouts on the club, but the real key to the team's performance lies in Garriott's able leadership and the confidence the team has placed in that leadership.

Their record speaks for itself, figures being rather boring at best.

Fandom in Complacent Mood

Their versatility also is unquestioned, a probe of various positions handled by members of the team during injuries that usually lay havoc with a pennant contender, will prove this fact beyond doubt.

The team has been more than was the fondest dream of baseball fans, a pleasant change from the past and when, and we also admit, that fans supported far less and in faithful fashion, too.

The obvious answer is that baseball fans have become complacent about the Tyes.

They take them for granted and not as the attraction they are and do not realize the splendid advertising and publicity they are giving the city by their sportsmanship play and league leadership.

Still a championship-bound club deserves better support. Surely that isn't too much to ask, is it?

(It pays to be a sport if you still agree with us if you were at Athletic Park last night. OUCH!)

MANAGERIAL PROFESSION PRECARIOUS ONE

Huge Turnover in Big League Bosses

BY GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, Aug. 7 (AP).—If you should see a furtive looking fellow walking along close to the buildings and casting nervous glances aloft, the chances are good that he's a big league manager wondering when the old axe is going to fall. It's a precarious profession these days.

A glance through the records discloses that the 16 major league clubs have within the past five seasons employed a total of 42 managers, with a couple of months still to go in the current scramble. A team which isn't paying salaries to at least two pilots, past and present, is considered a reactionary.

Quick, now, and with no coaching, name the manager who has enjoyed the longest tenure with his present club.

It is necessary, obviously, to set a rather short time limit for an answer, because the present crop of jittery club owners stand still for no quiz program.

The correct, if improbable, answer is Billy Meyer, the lovable and long-suffering commander of the last-place Pittsburgh Pirates in the National League. He is the only member of the dugout clan who has been at the same stand ever since the 1948 season began, and it is open to violent debate whether Billy deserves congratulations in view of what

Mexican Cattle Expected in U.S.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP).—The agriculture department said today about 500,000 head of cattle are expected to come into the United States from Mexico in the first 12 months after Sept. 1, if the border reopens then as scheduled.

The border has been closed to Mexican cattle for about five years as a result of an outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease.

The agriculture department announced March 12 that it will be re-opened Sept. 1, contingent upon no further outbreak of the disease.

Before the closing of the border, the United States normally imported 400,000 to 500,000 head of cattle a year from Mexico.

Wednesday, Secretary Charles Brannan said his department has not taken under consideration the question of lifting the embargo on Canadian livestock.

NESCAFE

INSTANT COFFEE

Sealed-in flavor can't fade away!

Flavor can't be boiled away!

All the flavor's in your cup!

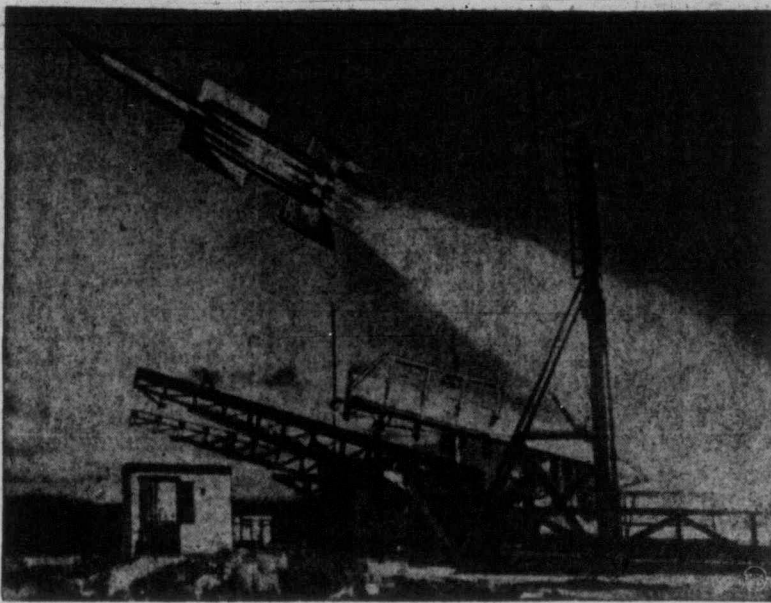

No finer coffee flavor, instant or regular!

Enjoy rich, real coffee flavor... save time, fuss and money. The hearty flavor in "Nescafe" is sealed in till the moment you make the coffee. No pot or percolator, no messy coffee grounds. You simply put a teaspoonful of Nescafe in your cup, and add boiling hot water. You save up to 40¢ a pound over regular coffee.

No wonder more people drink Nescafe than all other instant coffees combined.

*Nescafe (pronounced NES-CA-FAY) is the exclusive registered trade mark of Nestle's Milk Products (Canada) Limited to designate its soluble coffee product which is composed of equal parts of pure soluble coffee and added pure carbohydrates (dextrin, maltose and dextrose) added solely to protect the flavor.

British Rocket Chases Planes

Enemy bombers would have to make "well over" 2,000 miles per hour to evade this new British rocket, according to Supply Minister Duncan Sandys. He recently watched impressive firing tests, like that pictured above, at Aberporth, Wales. The new rocket, which carries booster motors along its sides, can rise to "heights far greater than any bomber is likely to reach for many years to come." The 24-foot, 17-inch missiles can be directed by radar beam and can steer themselves in the sharp turns necessary to intercept aircraft taking evasive action.

LOWER TAXES, MORE SUBSIDIES

N.Z. Budget Hikes Social Services

WELLINGTON, N.Z., Aug. 7 (Reuters).—New Zealanders will get tax concessions, more food subsidies and increased social services under the 1952-53 budget presented to parliament today by Prime Minister Sidney Holland.

Social service benefits at £97,500,000 now amount to 46.3 per cent of total budget, the biggest item and nearly four times the amount to be spent on defense.

Holland had bad news for those getting social service pensions. Their Christmas bonus was cut by half to £5 for a single person and £10 for a married person.

Holland, in his address, said it was necessary to approach Britain, New Zealand's most important market, for increases in primary produce prices because of the upward trend of import costs. He said New Zealand did not want to have to continually press Britain for higher prices, "but sentiment and affection alone will not buy essential goods."

Total expenditure estimated for 1952-53 is £210,600,000, which includes £25,000,000 for defense, £13,000,000 for the development of industry and £15,900,000 for food subsidies.

A capital works program to continue hydro-electric development and land settlement schemes envisages £56,594,000 expenditure.

Tax concessions, notably abolition of the two-penny stamp duty on receipts and reduction of the 10 per cent surcharge on income tax to 5 per cent, will save the public £8,000,000.

Holland said the government is the first to recognize "the harmful effect of a too-heavy burden of taxation, but its capacity to reduce it is dictated by the services people expect to receive from the state. People must realize that the welfare state is a costly business."

SYNGMAN RHEE EASILY WINS KOREA VOTING

President Re-Elected By Huge Majority

PUSAN, Korea, Aug. 7 (AP).—Aging President Syngman Rhee was swept back into office by an overwhelming majority in nearly complete returns from the Republic of Korea's first direct election of chief executives.

Rhee's choice for vice-president—Ham Tai Yung, an obscure Presbyterian minister—piled up a commanding lead over eight opponents in late returns from Tuesday's election.

Rhee, 77, pattered in his Seoul garden as the vote count assured his return to office for four years. He declined to make a statement or pose for photographers.

The inauguration is set for Aug. 15—fourth anniversary of the republic.

Returns from 161 of 163 counting places gave him 4,939,299 votes to 782,772 for Cho Bong Am, vice-chairman of the national assembly and former Communist leader; 748,945 for Lee Shi Young, former vice-president, and 241,489 for Hugh Cynn, former ambassador to Japan.

Returns from 140 counting places gave him 2,158,529 votes. His closest opponents were Lee Bum Suk with 1,454,024 and Chough Pyung Ok with 505,255.

Official returns are to be announced Aug. 13.

Until Rhee forced some constitutional changes in June, the president was elected by the one-house national assembly.

REDS ACTIVE IN JAPAN

Revolutionary Signs Says Security Head

TOKYO, Aug. 7 (AP).—Japan's top crime investigator says there are signs that the Communist underground movement is seeking to overthrow the government.

Itaru Seki, director of the public security investigation agency of the attorney-general's office, said his agents have seized many Red documents calling for revolution in Japan.

"But," he added in an interview, "it is very difficult to get evidence that is good in court."

He gave no hint of plans for immediate action under Japan's new anti-subversive law—except watchful waiting by his 2,000 "public security agents."

Seki did not disclose any details of the evidence uncovered. The subversive activities prevention act does not specifically outlaw the Communist party. It provides for imprisonment of persons who incite riots or rebellion, and for possible dissolution of organizations which engage in subversive activity.

Seki said his major concern is not the Communist party itself, but 55,000 former registered Communists who no longer admit they belong to the party. He said the nucleus of an active Red underground came from this group.

During the Allied occupation of Japan, all Communists were required to register. In May, 1949, there were 100,000 registered.

600 Stranded in London Subway Escape Unhurt

LONDON, Aug. 7 (Reuters).—Firemen smashed windows to let air in to 600 passengers in a London subway train stranded underground early today by floods which cut electric power.

For four hours passengers joked and sang until a steam locomotive was shunted alongside to rescue them. There was no panic. Flooding after Wednesday night's severe thunderstorms and cloudbursts caused widespread dislocation of the subway system. Thousands were late for work today.

Labor Claims R.C.A.F. Smashes Wage Standard

Condemnation of the R.C.A.F. for employing non-union labor on the Comox airport construction job was expressed at Wednesday night's meeting of the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council.

A committee was named to investigate the matter and interview Prime Minister St. Laurent on his forthcoming visit to this city.

Council action was precipitated by a letter from the steering committee of the Building Trades Council to the effect that the R.C.A.F., through sub-contractors, was employing non-union men at less than union wages.

This, the letter charged, was a deliberate attempt by the R.C.A.F. to break down wage standards of painters, carpenters and labor in general, a view concurred in by T.L.C. secretary

Percy Rayment who read a recommendation by the executive that appropriate action be taken.

Don Bushell, Painters' Union delegate said nothing but trouble had been experienced by unions ever since the Comox job commenced. Union officials and organizers had great difficulty in contacting workers there and had been escorted off the job by a corporal and guards.

He said action should be taken in the Comox situation before defense jobs in which similar conditions could arise started in Victoria.

WIDE DISCREPANCY

Actual violation of union pay conditions, Bushell said, consisted in payment at the rate of $1.65 an hour but deducting $36 a month for board whereas union contracts called for board in addition to the rate on out of town jobs.

Delegate George Wilkinson said the answer to the problem lay in calling on the federal government to have the work done by licensed contractors employing union workers on union contracts. The government itself, he said, should be taken out of the contracting business and should enforce Order-in-Council 6190 which provides for payment of prevailing wages on all government jobs.

A report from the Carpenters' Union said no attempt had been made by Victoria contractors to meet the union on the current strike situation. Negotiations were proceeding in Vancouver and the Victoria issue might hinge largely on the outcome of a meeting on the mainland Wednesday.

CITY CHILDREN MUSTERED FOR GOSPEL RALLY

A religious rally for children will begin at the Memorial Arena tonight at 7 p.m.

Called the "Kids' Arena Rally," it is sponsored by the Evangelical Church of Victoria and will present stories of the Gospel and colored slides to children.

It is associated with the Fuller Evangelical Foundation, Child for Christ Organization and Rainbow Christian Fellowship and lasts until Aug. 10.

Cars will canvass city parks where children will be given free passes to the rally.

WELL-KNOWN LABELS

The American party symbols—the Democratic donkey and the Republican elephant—were created by cartoonist Thomas Nast.

Egyptian Ambassador To Britain Recalled

CAIRO, Egypt, Aug. 7 (Reuters)—Egypt's ambassador to Britain, Abdel Fattah Amr, has been recalled to Cairo for transfer to a post in Asia—possibly India—a foreign ministry official said today.

Diplomatic circles believed Amr will resign rather than accept the new post.

Amr is a personal friend of former King Farouk and is popular in Britain, where he has spent most of his life. He owns property there and may decide to stay.

He has survived several government changes in Egypt, including that which followed the Suez Canal zone incidents of last December. Observers predicted that Mahmoud Fawzi, Egypt's permanent delegate to the United Nations, will replace Amr.

Prime Minister Aly Maher held a series of emergency talks with Egyptian political leaders at Alexandria today. He met with Soliman Ghannam, assistant sec-

NEW 'GLAD' VARIETIES CHARM SHOW VISITORS

Hundreds of people today viewed the colorful gladiolus show... the feature attraction of the three-day Victoria Gladiolus Society festival which was opened at the Sirocco Club Wednesday.

Several new varieties of gladioli originated on Vancouver Island are to be seen at the flower exhibition. One of these is called "Attraction," originated by W. Goddard and grown by S. Arrowsmith. It was awarded the reserve champion status.

Another new variety was grown by George R. White and has been called "Vanale."

Dr. M. Young has on exhibit the most unusual bloom. The flower grows like a delphinium, with double blooms back to back.

The grand aggregate winner was S. Arrowsmith. Dorene Arrowsmith won the junior championship.

Grand champion winner and ladies' champion went to Mrs. George Heath's "Leading Lady," a tall, pure white glad with 20 buds on the stem.

Other winners included Ernest Edwards, awarded the novice championship for his "Red Charm" bloom; Mrs. A. Turner, best basket award; L. W. Taverner, best airmail express bloom; C. Brynjolfsson, best vase; George Heath, best six spikes; Alex Millar, best three spikes.

The Queen Alexandra Solarium Junior League will repeat their fashion show at the Sirocco between 8.30 and 9.30 this evening. The show is one of the attractions of the festival, which is being sponsored by the Victoria Cosmopolitan Club.

The trophies will also be presented tonight to winners of the flower show.

Saanich firemen were out until early this morning, mopping up a four-acre bush fire which broke out Wednesday afternoon.

The fire was reported about 4 p.m. but firemen were kept at the scene until 11:45 a.m. Homes in the neighborhood were not threatened.

Christmas Hill is on North Quadra, overlooking Swan Lake.

A full slate of officers will be elected tonight at 8 by the View Royal Social Credit group, chairman William Falk announced Wednesday.

Guest speaker will be W. N. Chant, former Alberta agriculture minister and an unsuccessful candidate in Esquimalt in the general election.

The Workmen's Compensation Board has announced it will hold hearings August 11 at its Victoria office.

Frank W. Hooper, 1012 Tillamook Road, was released on $300 bail after he appeared in city police court this morning and was remanded without plea on a charge of driving while impaired by alcohol.

Hooper was arrested at 4:50 this morning by police who observed his car on Store Street without lights.

Joseph F. Hamilton, 1232 Oscar Street, was fined $10 in city court today when he pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to wear eye-glasses while driving.

Persons wishing to install coffee-vending machines in industrial and commercial plants must pay the same $10 license fee as on other vending machines, City Council's finance committee agreed today.

Any installation must also have approval of city sanitary inspectors, the committee ruled.

Frederick G. Smith—known to most folks simply as "the man with all the dogs"—was scheduled to make one of his regular annual appearances in Saanich court this afternoon on the perennial charge of keeping too many dogs without licenses.

Smith, an aged army pensioner who lives at 3502 Calumet Avenue, has been haled before the court regularly since 1945. He lives the life of a recluse, with a pack of about 30 dogs.

City police were notified Wednesday of two instances in which window panes had been broken by boys with a B.B. gun.

Early Wednesday, the Parliament Buildings caretaker reported a window in the Motor Vehicles Branch holed by a B.B. pellet and later in the day Harry Haig, Balmoral Road, phoned the station to complain about boys shooting holes in windows of a house at 1586 Rockland Avenue.

Arthur Crocker, 919 Johnson Street, was fined $25 in Esquimalt police court this morning when he pleaded guilty to stealing 75 feet of garden hose, worth $8.

Crocker was apprehended and taken into custody by Esquimalt police Wednesday night, after John Stuart, 329 Armit Road, saw him walking down the street with his hose.

Crocker's explanation in court was that he had been drinking.

Wreckage sighted in Queen Charlotte Sound by C.P.S.S. Princess Norah is not from the missing fishboat Daisy D, according to officials of Canadian Fishing Co.

"The vessel is too small to be ours," said a spokesman, "and the number of barnacles indicates it has been in the water for a long time."

Daisy D, with a seven-man crew, is unreported since July 3, and hope for the safety of the men has been abandoned.

Haban Singh, 2450 Prior Street, was fined $10 in city police court this morning when he was found guilty of depositing sawdust on city streets.

A police witness testified that a truck driven by Singh spread sawdust along Douglas Street on July 22. The sawdust blew from a hole in the canvas cover of the truck's fuel box.

Other new fires in the Vancouver forest district, now under control or extinguished, were at Squamish, Texada Island, Thurston Bay, Comox, and Alberni.

Largest fire at Vernon Lake on Vancouver Island, near Alert Bay, which is contained, but spreading slightly before high winds.

The closure on the district must continue, a Forest Service official said today. "The fire hazard remains high, and although there are a few clouds in the early morning, the effects of the overnight recovery are soon lost."

Weatherman William Mackie reported slightly warmer weather in the offing for Victoria and district, with continued light winds.

Rain was reported at several points in the B.C. interior today, he said.

A 700-acre fire in Washington, 25 miles south of Chilliwack, was declared under control today along with a 2,500-acre blaze near Lake Chelan. Both fires were blamed on cigarettes.

Mr. Dawson said anyone who acquires a pair of chinchillas will find pleasure and profit in producing fur. "They are easy to raise, are odorless and are practically free of contagious diseases," he said. "They are well suited to the climate here."

Chinchillas became valuable fur-bearing animals due to the almost extinction of the rodents by trappers in Peru. An American mining engineer saved them from extinction by bringing a few of the animals into the United States in the '20s. Since then they have been raised in captivity.

The fur is unique. In structure it is as fine as a spider web, for as many as 80 fur fibres grow from each root, creating a softness that is not found in any other fur. The fur is also extremely light—a large skin may weigh but a single ounce.

Due to the scarcity of the rodents, there are few Chinchilla fur coats in the world. It takes about 70 skins to make a short fur jacket.

The animals breed twice a year. They usually have a litter of two. They are friendly and make good pets.

The ranch house will be opened to the public Saturday afternoon and night.

Mr. Dawson, formerly of the Credit Bureau of Victoria, who became interested in chinchillas two years ago, said "the ranch house will accommodate 72 of the rodents. They are valued between $1,250 and $2,200 a pair, he said.

The owners have done everything to give the chinchillas worthy lodging. The ranch house is insulated and spotlessly clean. They are kept in chrome-finished cages, equipped with play boxes and special sleeping quarters.

RODENTS LIVE IN LUXURY

Royal Family of Fur Breeds Here

BY HUMPHRY DAVY

One of the "most posh" ranch houses of its type in Western Canada will be opened here on Saturday.

The ranch house will accommodate princely rodents, chinchillas, whose beautiful, and unique fur has been the lure of hunters since prehistoric times.

The ranch known as Nomavi and situated on West Saanich Road, Royal Oak, is a new venture launched by three enterprising Victorians who have acquired some of the finest chinchillas in North America.

They are D. V. Nunn, ranch manager; Dr. R. E. Cranston, veterinary surgeon; and H. B. Dawson, sales manager. The ranch is associated with the

Formula Offered To Aid School Building

B.C.E. WORKERS VOTE ON AWARD

A 10-cent hourly pay increase for 600 Vancouver and Vancouver Island electrical workers employed by the B.C. Electric has been recommended in a conciliation board majority report handed down today.

Meetings of 100 Vancouver Island workers will be held here tonight to accept or reject the award.

Originally the union demanded a 35-cent hourly increase, requested conciliation when the company refused to budge from a proposed renewal of the 1951 contract.

FIREMEN MUST LIVE IN CITY TO KEEP JOBS

Fire Wardens Demand Order's Enforcement

City firemen living outside Victoria's boundaries must move into the city by Jan. 1, city council fire wardens' committee ruled today. If they don't, they may lose their jobs.

Fire Chief Frank Briers said about five men are involved.

There has been no action for seven months," said Alderman Waldo Skillings, chairman. "That is flaunting the interest of the public."

The chief said he had spoken to the men but to date no action has been taken. He asked the committee if it wished to give him a directive ordering the men to move in.

Alderman Skillings did not wish to pass an order, stating he felt the chief could handle it "more diplomatically." Council ruled firemen must live within the city four years ago and reaffirmed the policy again this year, he said.

"We didn't want to inconvenience anyone but we can't let this thing drift interminably," he added.

The alderman felt it was particularly necessary in view of a cut in the fire force this year.

Highway Opponent To Try His Route

A new route for the proposed Island Highway outlet from Victoria will be explored Friday morning by J. L. Brown, 1101 Burnside Road, chief opponent of the government-chosen route.

Mr. Brown, accompanied by M.L.A. Frank Snowsall, a driver, will take out over rough country between Prospect Lake Road and Millstream Road in a light delivery truck.

"I want to prove that there is a feasible route through that area which would avoid the necessity of putting the new road through the Portage Inlet area," said Mr. Brown.

MILLS SEEKING STRIKE'S END AT CONFERENCE

Two Victoria millwork companies—Crowe, Gonnason Co. Ltd. and Moore-Whittington Lumber Co. Ltd.—were scheduled to meet at 2 p.m. today with the International Woodworkers of America to consider wages to be paid factory employees in the two mills.

All of the Crowe, Gonnason mill and the factory division of Moore-Whittington is still under picket, constant since the start of the woodworkers' strike June 14, pending a settlement of the dispute.

Contractors and Carpenters Suggest Alternate Methods to End Stalemate

Both contractors and carpenters had solutions today to the problem of unfinished schools, where building has been tied up by current strikes. If these schools are not completed by the beginning of the term, 500 Greater Victoria children will be unable to attend classes.

"If the carpenters would let plumbers, electricians and other tradesmen work in Oak Bay Junior High School we could turn it over to the school board in three weeks," said contractor W. J. Hamilton.

"Let the school board take over the school contracts and we will provide all the men they want at $2.10 per hour," said Ernest Oliver, carpenters' spokesman. "They would make a lot of difference to the school situation in a short time."

Mr. Hamilton, president of Victoria Builders' Exchange, with whom carpenters negotiate, and managing director of the firm holding the Oak Bay Junior High School construction contract, said carpenters could start work immediately at $1.90.

"We maintain that our offer of 15 cents was more than justified, since our business does not warrant such an increase," he said.

"Only Vancouver and Toronto rates would exceed that figure," he added, "and there is no comparison between a residential city like Victoria and industrial centres. We can't charge the same prices."

"We Have No Control"

"We'd be happy to see the strike ended and the school situation cleared up, but this is something over which we have no control," he said.

Carpenters, who received $1.75 prior to the strike, asked for $2.50 originally, and now ask the $2.10 hourly wage and other conditions sought by Mainland and up-island carpenters in their negotiations with General Contractors' Association of Vancouver.

Lawrence Eil, president of Victoria's Local 1598, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, said that a number of members are now at work on out-of-town jobs, in industries, and with individual customers.

If contractors accept the suggestion, providing for $2.10 per hour, out-of-town board rates of $1.50 per day, and time and one-half for the first two hours of overtime work each day and double time thereafter, then carpenters concerned will be asked to vote on the proposal, he said.

Night Haunts Warned Bottle Revels Banned

'Blind Eye' Management Gets Option To Control Patrons or Expect Police

Police Chief John Blackstock today said he has served notice on cafe proprietors in Victoria's Chinatown that wild drinking parties will not be tolerated.

The chief's warning came on the heels of a police commission order, calling for a crackdown on early morning revelry in downtown district.

Chief Blackstock said operators of all-night Chinese eating places had turned "a blind eye" to a lot of drinking on their premises because they did not want to drive business away.

In view of the commission's demand for action, however, the cafe men will either see that their patrons behave or the police will, the chief warned.

Service personnel have been responsible for some of the Chinatown rowdiness, the chief observed, but other sections of the community have been equally to blame.

The chief noted servicemen engaged in Chinatown after midnight since there was no place for them to go. He said a proper servicemen's centre would relieve this situation.

The chief declined to reveal what immediate plans his department has for conducting the crackdown, but implied there would be no hesitation in apprehending persons found breaking the law.

FLORIDA PLAN

Curling Rink Support Won Far Afield

"I've never seen a curling game in my life, but I'm coming here next winter to see one," said an American woman from Tampa, Florida.

With that, the U.S. visitor handed over $1,000 for a bond on the new Victoria Curling Rink which is to be constructed on Quadra Street, near the corner of Pembroke Street. She asked that her name not be disclosed until she arrived here next year to watch the curling.

Max Zabel, president of the Victoria Curling Club, said many people from out-of-town were becoming interested in the project and were beginning to buy the bonds.

"I've sold over $5,000 in bonds within two days," he said. "It won't be long before we reach our objective of $145,000."

The club to date has sold over $60,000 in bonds.

Construction of the rink is starting immediately.

Buried by Shipmates

Funeral services for Theodoris Moutzakis, third engineer of S.S. Triton who was killed in a collision at sea off Nanaimo, were held in Vancouver today. Close friends from the ship, now in dry dock here, served as pallbearers.

Annual basket picnic of Canadian Order of Foresters will be held at Mount Douglas Park on Sunday. Bus will leave Vancouver at 10 a.m. and activities start at 1 p.m.

Mr. Randall, who is facing a series of civil suits in Supreme Court here, will attend the meeting and will explain his position with regard to certain business ventures, it was learned.

The meetings will be open only to those who have had business dealings with Mr. Randall.

Nationalism Breeds South Africa Friction, Torch Commando Explains

BY RON BAIRD

Current unrest in South Africa cannot be blamed on the segregation of that country's 10,000,000 natives by a white population numbering less than 3,000,000.

The trouble stems, says South African advertising executive Edwin O. Stratton-Christensen, from a clash between English-speaking and Afrikaans-speaking whites sparked by nationalism.

Ad man Stratton-Christensen is here on a vacation with his wife, former Victorian Noreen Donnelly, after a business trip to England and the United States.

They are staying with friends in Oak Bay.

The South African charges that his country is "probably the most misreported" in the world and lays a large portion of the blame on the "door-step of Time magazine, the U.S.'s big, colorful, mass-circulation news weekly."

"Time has done a particularly bad reporting job on the Malan (National Prime Minister Daniel Malan issue," he said.

Many other news sources have "skewed" the situation, said the South African.

The Nationalist Party, composed 95 per cent of Afrikaans (Dutch stock), and the United Party, made up 50-50 of English and Afrikaans, disagree on this point: The former want South Africa to sever all ties with England and attain self-government as a republic, while the latter want their country to remain in the British Commonwealth as a dominion.

The Nationalists came into power in May of 1948 with a majority of eight votes over now deceased Field Marshal Jan Smuts and his United Party.

They hold a majority of slightly more than 18 seats in parliament.

Working toward a change in the present Malan administration is Sailor Malan's (no relation) Torch Commandos, 250,000-member group composed of a large number of war veterans.

Stratton-Christensen says the Torch Commandos have no desire to form a government and will disband when they have reached their objective.

Stories of the native population as a "suppressed people" are nonsense, says the South African, and he cites as an example a widely-circulated photo of a signpost in that country which read: "Beware of Natives."

"One would think the natives were wild. Actually, the sign was posted at a gold mine road crossing to warn motorists of native laborers who use that section to cross the road."

Even the South African press, because of a dislike for the Malan government, exploit race trouble in the country.

The Malan government—"composed of brilliant men who have done a tremendous amount for the country"—has done more for the natives than any previous administration by way of free, compulsory schooling, better food and housing conditions, says Stratton-Christensen.

And, as a matter of record he says, the whites were in South Africa before the present native populations who came down from the north to destroy the original Hottentots.

In his five years in the country, the South African says he has never seen clashes between white and black but there have been many between Zulus and East Indians, who control a large part of the commerce of the country.

The spark that set off the power formation of the Torch Commandos occurred when the natives were put on a separate voters' list as apart from the whites. . . . Sailor Malan's group feel that this is taking a privilege away from many natives who served their country in the Second World War.

Strict white-black segregation exists in South Africa and thus prevents the possibility of racial clashes within these two groups, says the advertising man from Port Elizabeth.

A Torch Commando group member himself, Stratton-Christensen nevertheless predicts that Prime Minister Malan's party will gain an even greater majority in the national elections scheduled for next year because "the United Party has not strong enough leaders yet to swing into

Now You Can Buy a Kit For Self-Covered Belts

By PENNY SAVER

What'll they think of next!

By cracky, if they haven't got a kit on the market that has all the ingredients for making a belt.

That's a dandy idea when you come to think of it. Very often when you are making an outfit for yourself you decide that it would be smarter with a matching belt and then there is the job of having a dressmaker shop do it for you or trying in some haphazard way to do it yourself. (If you are an expert sewer please excuse "haphazard.")

The ready-to-sew belt backing is 36 inches long and will fit a size 12 to 40.

It can be laundered or dry cleaned according to the material you cover it with. The kit contains an adjustable buckle, the belt backing and detailed illustrated instructions to guide you.

When you have completed the job you will find you have professional looking belt and that you have made a thrifty purchase.

The kit is priced at $1.50.

You know those highly glossed, low and slinky panthers that people place on fireplaces and window sills? They are usually black, at least that was my impression, so when I spotted one that was grey-green in color I stopped to have a look at it.

I casually took a peek at the price tag and saw that it was marked $12.75.

"Whoops, must be something wrong here," I thought. A clerk came along then and I asked her why the panther was marked at an increased price.

She grinned then and said, "Oh, this isn't an ordinary panther." She picked up the creature which was about a foot or more in length and said, "Follow me," which I did.

She put it down on a display table and to my amazement, the panther figure turned into a lamp.

Attached to, but hidden behind the panther had been an electric cord which the clerk had plugged into one of the sockets on the display table.

To top it all off, it turned out that this wasn't just any old kind of lamp. It was designed especially for television.

The only light which escapes from the panther is through his eyes and that enables a person to see enough to move in a room darkened for television, but it won't spoil the vision on the screen.

As I mentioned before, this particular lamp was grey-green in color, but the clerk told me that other colors were expected soon.

AS WE LIVE

Keep Busy! It's the Only Way to Forget Loneliness

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, Ph.D.

The only real solution to loneliness is to keep so busy that you have no time to think about yourself and how lonely you are. That is the best advice for the 21-year-old wife who writes:

(Q)—"I have a terrific fear of loneliness that has been with me since childhood. My husband had to go in the service and is now in Korea. Worrying about his safety plus the fact that I have no friends to go out with is starting to depress me. I have tried working in an office to keep my mind busy and perhaps acquire a friend but I have found out that there was no one my age who was friendly toward me or interested in becoming acquainted. I crave the feeling of being useful and needed. What would you advise?"

(A)—There are few people who are happy alone.

First of all, get another job. There are many office jobs available today so you can be selective. When you apply for a new job, make the type of people you will be working with your first consideration.

Second, offer to do volunteer work in the evenings or over weekends.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

The average woman dreads menopause. She need not do so except because of useless fear or poor care which comes from lack of information. Birth, puberty, menopause and death, are certain to be the experience of women and they are all natural and expected phases of life.

The very dread of menopause can throw a woman into a mental state which makes her exaggerate every little symptom she has. Many symptoms which are blamed on menopause cannot rightfully be chalked up to it but come from physical weaknesses she has always had but which begin to give more trouble at middle age.

Fine health is the very best insurance for passing through the small physical crisis to which women are subjected—namely, the menstrual periods, child bearing and menopause. When you meet any of these you can sail through them with little discomfort if you are well informed, have good health and a happy mental attitude.

It is true that most women experience some symptoms at change of life. There is a time of imbalance when the ovaries become less active and before other glands compensate for this lack. Menopause is simply a changeover from the childbearing period to the nonchildbearing time of life. It affects your life permanently in no other way.

Today, in most cases, any disturbing symptoms can be controlled by hormone therapy. If you feel depressed, if you have hot flashes or night sweats, if you find your once happy temperament turning irritable and sour or if you are hounded by chronic fatigue, ask your doctor about it.

From 40 on a woman should stay in closer contact with her physician not only because he can give her relief if she is bothered with menopause symptoms but also because this is the age group in which cancer strikes most frequently. Women should have a physical examination at least twice a year just as preventative medicine. Also be sure that this includes an examination of the breasts. It is impossible for a woman herself to tell the difference between a small lump and the glands in the breast.

Don't worry about this time of life but be intelligent about it. Give yourself a break by good medical attention and advice.

Canada Needs More Women In Commons, Mrs. Fairclough Says

TORONTO, Aug. 7 (CP).—Ten per cent of the seats in Canada's 262-member House of Commons should be occupied by women, says Mrs. Ellen Fairclough.

Mrs. Fairclough, Progressive Conservative member for Hamilton West, told Mrs. Tyne Leiy Larsson that she "did not enjoy the distinction of being the only woman in the House." Mrs. Larsson is a member of Finland's parliament of 200 members.

The two were guests of honor at a dinner party here.

"I was surprised to hear that there was only one woman member of parliament in Canada," said Mrs. Larsson, one of 29 women in the Finnish house.

"Women got the right to vote and be elected to office in 1906," she said. Three of them have

A Garden Party Is Enjoyed

Garden party weather added a final touch to the enjoyment of the many friends who accepted the invitation of Maj.-Gen. and Mrs. G. R. Pearkes to attend a summer gathering at their Tattersall Drive home, Wednesday afternoon.

The affair was arranged as a party where members of Esquimalt and Saanich Progressive Conservative Association might meet and become better acquainted.

Afternoon tea was served on the upper lawn under the spreading branches of the trees; clock golf was enjoyed under directions of Maj. D. B. F. Bullen; a pioneer oil well controlled by J. Ness present.

A special guest at the party was Miss Hilda Hesson, Winnipeg, who is visiting her sister, Miss Ruth Hesson, in Victoria at present.

been cabinet members and she herself was a former minister of social welfare.

"The idea that women are women's candidates is one of the things that keeps women out," said Mrs. Fairclough. "It is politically immature to think that women are exclusively women's choice, or that they are concerned only with matters of interest to women."

"Until we have a more mature type of political thinking we will not get anywhere with getting more women in public life."

Mrs. Larsson said women in Finland have equal opportunity with men and the right to be elected to all kinds of state and educational offices—"everything but the church."

Mrs. Larsson is vice-president of the Helsinki City Council, on which 20 of 71 members are women.

Victoria Daily Times THURSDAY, AUG. 7, 1953 15

Miss Jean Kerr will represent Victoria Y.W.C.A. at national assembly in Ontario.

To Attend 'Y' Assembly

Once a year a national assembly of the Y.W.C.A. is held for members between the ages of 16 and 25. Each branch of the Y.W.C.A. is entitled to send two representatives to this assembly, funds permitting.

Miss Jean Kerr, Victoria's only representative, will leave Friday for Whitby, Ont., where the assembly is to be held, from Aug. 12 to 20.

The funds sponsoring her trip were raised by clubs within the "Y" through extra activities as organization funds can not be used.

Miss Kerr, a member of the "Y" glee club, competed with a nominee from the other clubs with a speech in which she told why she wanted to attend the assembly and what she would do if elected as delegate.

These speeches were heard at a meeting of the program council and Miss Kerr was elected. While at the assembly Miss Kerr will learn about the Y.W.C.A. constitution, cities and provinces in Canada, and ways the "Y" works in public affairs, among other interesting activities planned.

The delegate has been active in "Y" work for the past four years. She attended Quadra School, Victoria High School and Victoria Normal, and during the past year has been teaching at Frank Hobbs School.

New Star In French Fashion

PARIS, Aug. 7 (AP).—Dior and Fath must move over to make room at the top for a new star in the French fashion world.

Last night Hubert de Givenchy, in the second season of his young career, proved his overnight success last spring was no lucky accident. Skeptics, who wondered if he might be a one-idea man who had spent his talent in one burst, saw a second collection even better than his first, brimming with new ideas.

Smartly-simple suits, slimmed down with "Penguin" velvet insets in the breast set the opening pace. Heavy rope fringes transformed boleros into suit jackets, wiglike brimless cloche hats in hairy felt covered the hair completely, fur-trimmed silk dresses, suits and coats were prettier than the pelts they imitated, and old-fashioned tapestry roses for cocktail and evening clothes drew admiration.

Treat your family and friends to an old-fashioned ice cream party. Make your ice cream in a crank-style or electric freezer and plan on serving it in the garden or back yard. These toppings always make a hit with the crowd—chopped walnuts, chocolate syrup, silvered roasted almonds, canned cling peach slices and fresh berries. Eat each one make his own sundae.

The summer avocados are coming to market. The first ones to arrive are small-sized fruit with dark skins. The color of the skin may vary from dark green to black. The fruit itself is buttery sweet and mellow, and perfect for all kinds of summer salads.

Housewife Takes Course In Government

WINNIPEG (CP).—A Winnipeg housewife is spending her spare time learning more about government and the men who determine the Canadian way of life.

Mrs. Charles Ives, a mother of a 15-year-old daughter, decided last fall that "a man's face is his own responsibility but that's not enough to make me vote for him." This spring she took time out from household chores to attend an extension course in municipal administration and public finance designed primarily for members of municipal councils.

Her interest in political and public affairs began last fall when her husband asked who she was going to vote for in a civic election.

"I told him I would have to take a look at the pictures of the aldermanic candidates in the newspapers and he just laughed at me," said the pretty blonde housewife.

SCORNED LITERATURE

"He suggested I might do better to get some good literature on the candidates so I took his advice. But I discovered for the most part the literature was a lot of bunk and I could tell more by just looking at their pictures."

Mrs. Ives used some of her leisure moments watching sittings of the provincial legislature during the winter, "just so I could see these people in action."

"I found that just by watching the members of the house from my seat in the galleries I could tell to quite an extent what they were like. And if I didn't understand some of the questions that were thrown onto the floor, I would interview the speakers concerned after the sitting was over."

Mrs. Ives says she gradually became "fascinated" with government and now can't keep away from conventions and sessions dealing with public affairs, both provincial and municipal.

SPOT FOR WOMEN

"Before I used to accept practically anything that was said but now I find I question everything I read or hear," she says.

From her own observation, Mrs. Ives believes representative government is beginning to slip badly and that women should take a hand.

"After all, every nickel the government spends is ours and we must be interested."

But she insists on not joining any political group herself. By remaining on the outside, she hopes to get a broader view.

The one thing that worries her is that there must be hundreds of housewives like herself who, with a little effort, can find some good use for their leisure time.

PATOU SHOWS ROYAL PURPLE FOR AUTUMN

PARIS, Aug. 7 (AP).—Getting ready for the Royal coronation in England next year seems to be occupying Paris dressmakers' thoughts these days.

Patou, in his collection today, showed several ball dresses with an Elizabethan air. Royal purple has invaded the color field.

Waists are usually fitted at Patou but he uses bands around the hips and contrasting materials to suggest a long-waisted middy line. One of his favorite cocktail styles is a tight black sheath with a drape descending from the hip down one side. He calls this "a symmetrical volume superimposed on line."

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. J. Fuller, Carrick Street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Patricia Elizabeth, to Lawrence Alvin Haines, Whaletown. The marriage will take place on Aug. 16 at 7.15, in St. John's Anglican Church, with Canon George Biddle officiating. Attendants will be Miss Marilyn McLeod, maid of honor; Misses Margaret Burns and Jane Line, bridesmaids, and Barbara and Elizabeth Fuller, flower girls.

My kid sister Peggy is working for us while Bruce is over in Europe, and she's just about driving me nuts, as she's such a stickler for keeping things clean, and everyone on the hop. Then every morning I gotta stop up-town while, she goes in, and makes a big fuss over getting just the right shade of Gladiolus (or Gladioli or Gladioli) to blend in with a Chesterfield she has in mind, and then we gotta sling stuff all over the place when we get here, so these D gladiolus (or gladioli or gladioli) will look just right. ## IMMIGRATION ENDS ROMANTIC IDEAS OF SPANISH SEAMAN, GIRL FRIEND

VANCOUVER, Aug. 7 (CP).—It doesn't look as if Liborio Sarraolandia and Rita Cappelloni will be able to move their ship-board romance to land for some time yet. The 30-year-old Spanish sailor and his 25-year-old Roman sweetheart, who have been shipping around the world for six months, Wednesday at Vancouver were ordered deported by Canadian immigration authorities. Owners of the Greek freighter, Panagiotis Comantaras, the ship which the couple couldn't leave, will have to pay their passage back to Europe. Sarraolandia met Miss Cappelloni in Genoa last October. They took a train to Antwerp, where the Spaniard was taken or the Greek vessel as third engineer. Sarraolandia smuggled his sweetheart aboard the freighter in his duffelbag—she is four feet, seven inches tall; the duffelbag four feet, 10 inches long. They lived in secrecy in Sarraolandia's cabin for 52 days. When he was no longer able to smuggle food to her he was forced to admit there was a stowaway aboard. Hoping to start life in North America, the couple tried to leave the ship at Long Beach, Calif., but were refused entry to the United States. The freighter recently arrived at Campbell River, where the pair jumped ship, bought a rowboat for $50 and fled to a nearby island. Sarraolandia said Wednesday he planned to row the 100 miles to Vancouver where they might "get lost in the big city." But hunger forced them to give themselves up to police.

A TRAGIC FIGURE in one of the world's most publicized murder trials, Nancy Oakes, whose home is in Niagara Falls, Ont., will wed Eugene Lyssard, son of a German baron, who is now a student at Mexico City College. Miss Oakes was struck by double tragedy nine years ago when her multimillionaire father, Canadian mining magnate, Sir Harry Oakes, was found murdered at Nassau in the Bahamas and her husband, Alfred De Marigny, was accused of the crime. Nancy refused to believe her playboy husband had killed her father and stood beside him throughout the trial from which De Marigny was acquitted but banished from the Bahamas. In 1949, Miss Oakes' marriage was annulled by the supreme court of New York.

VICTORIA AT QUAKE'S CENTRE BUT RATTLES ONLY EVIDENCE

Residents of Gonzales Bay-Shoal Bay area were close to the epicentre of a small earthquake Wednesday night which shook homes and rattled dishes. The tremor, which did no damage, was felt about 8.49 p.m.

The quake's centre was located close to Shoal Bay by seismologist W. Milne of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, Saanich. The intensity of the tremor was described by Mr. Milne as "light."

Finn Who Joined Red Party To Be Deported From U.S.

BOSTON, Aug. 7 (AP).—A Finnish-born mill worker, who signed a Communist party membership application in 1934 because "they told me they wanted to win a strike in which I was involved," was ordered deported Wednesday.

Judge Charles E. Wyzanski, Jr., ruled "with reluctance" that Carl A. Latva, 49, who signed the application, paid 50 cents and "never heard from them again," must be deported to Finland.

Wyzanski said that under the McCarran Anti-Subversives Act he was bound to uphold the deportation of Latva.

The McCarran Act, passed by Congress in 1950 over President Truman's veto, was aimed at subversives. Among other things it authorizes deportation of aliens who have been members of any organization advocating violent overthrow of the U.S. government.

Latva said at his home last night:

"An immigrant like me... I don't know right from wrong because I hadn't been here very long. Then 20 years later because I tell the truth they want to break up my family and take me away from the country I love."

In 1949 Latva, applying for U.S. citizenship, told immigration officials that he had joined the Communist Party in 1934 because he understood its aims were "organizing unions, and if there was a strike they appealed to all local groups to raise funds to help strikers."

Public to Know, Secreds Promise

All Orders-in-Council To Be Open To Public View; New Purchase Plan

Two pronouncements on administrative policy were made today by Premier W. A. C. Bennett, the first since his cabinet took over Saturday morning.

He declared all orders-in-council passed by the government will be open to public view, and that an "open and above the table" policy in government purchasing will be followed.

The Premier's declaration on orders-in-council came after Attorney-General Robert Bonner had released what was described as a secret order-in-council passed on July 22 by the former government in approving some liquor price increases.

It was the custom of the former government to place some orders-in-council, especially those dealing with financial matters, or staff salaries, on a "confidential" list.

"CONFIDENTIAL"

The liquor price order, dated July 22, did not come to light until August 4 after the increases had already gone into effect. It was still marked "confidential" in the provincial secretary's department.

A three-point policy in government purchasing of supplies was outlined by the Premier, who pointed out he was not criticizing the purchasing commission but simply laying down the Social Credit policy.

It is as follows:

1. Preference to be given to all goods made in B.C. by B.C. labor and using B.C. materials.
2. All firms will be given equal right to tender on all government supplies.
3. Any unsuccessful tenders on any government purchases will have the right to inspect the successful tender seven days after it has been awarded.

The change from previous policy is in the last clause. B.C. preference has been a standard practice, so has equal tender rights.

It was indicated that by allowing unsuccessful tenderers to examine successful bids it would lead to more close tendering on future contracts so that in the long run the government would save in costs.

BULGARS LEAVE GREEK ISLET AFTER BATTLE

Mortars Open Up, No Fire Returned

ATHENS, Aug. 7 (AP).—The Greek general staff announced tonight that Bulgarian soldiers, on whom Greek troops opened fire this morning on disputed Gamma Islet, had evacuated the little island.

The Bulgarians evacuated Gamma during the afternoon, the general staff said. The communiqué added that no Greek patrol will go to Gamma since the main objective of expelling the Bulgars had been achieved.

Mortar and machine-gun fire directed against the islet continued until early afternoon, when the Bulgars were seen evacuating Gamma. Gamma is in the Evros River, which divides Greece and Bulgaria. An earlier communiqué said the Greek fire was not returned by the troops from Greece's northern Soviet satellite neighbor.

Today's announcement said the United Nations peace sub-committee was present when the Greeks attacked, and that just prior to opening fire the Greeks warned the Bulgars by loud-speaker.

The island was the scene of a Bulgarian attack on a Greek patrol July 27. Three Greek soldiers were killed.

SEATTLE, Aug. 7 (AP).—The pilot of the passenger liner Baranof, which collided with the Greek freighter Triton near Nanaimo, B.C., July 26, today told a Coast Guard board he first saw the Triton on his radar screen when the vessels were about three miles apart.

The pilot, Capt. Ernest J. Landstrom of Seattle, took full responsibility for actions of the Baranof in connection with the collision.

"I was in complete charge of the navigation of the vessel," Landstrom told the board.

Slayer, Believed Victim's Father, Under Arrest

KAMLOOPS, B.C., Aug. 7 (CP).—The 17-year-old Japanese wife of a Chinese taxi driver was slain in her bedroom early today by three shotgun blasts.

Police later arrested a heavily armed man, believed to be the girl's father, following a gun battle in downtown Kamloops. The man was carrying a shotgun, an ax, a home-made fire bomb and a bowie knife.

Mrs. John Bing, mother of a three-weeks-old son, was fatally shot while in her bed. She died in hospital an hour later.

Motorboat Murder Charged

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C., Aug. 7 (CP).—Charged with murder by motorboat, Francois Peter Dennis is in jail here awaiting preliminary hearing.

He was arrested following the death Saturday of William Austin, 54, on remote Stuart Lake, 75 miles northwest of Prince George.

The 38-year-old Dennis is accused of ramming Austin's craft with his motorboat and then running over him with the boat as Austin tried to swim to shore.

R.C.M.P. said Austin's death was witnessed by his wife and two children, who were watching from the shore.

Both Dennis and his alleged victim are members of the Pinchi Lake band of Indians who live in the wilderness country north of Stuart Lake.

Mrs. Austin told police the two men had argued and that Dennis followed in his motorboat when her husband put out into the lake.

Dennis was arrested Sunday at Fort St. James, a settlement on the shore of Stuart Lake, and brought here for preliminary hearing.

CIVIL SERVANTS RETURN TO FIVE-DAY WEEK FIGHT

British Columbia's 10,000 civil servants are laying plans to start pressing the new government for a five-day week, it was learned today.

Rebuffed by the old Liberal government in their fight for the five-day week throughout the civil service, the B.C. Government Employees' Association soon will ask the Social Credit government to institute the shorter week.

E. P. O'Connor, association secretary, is expected in Victoria shortly. He will confer with association heads and present the workers' request to the government.

The old government offered inside workers a five-day week on a four-month trial basis but refused to allow the same for outside workers and institution employees. It was suggested a five-day week for the others be studied.

The civil service rejected the proposal.

Queried this week on the possibility of a five-day week for civil service, Premier W. A. C. Bennett merely said it will be studied.

Blood Bank Situation Said To Be 'Desperate'

Stocks in the Red Cross blood bank in Victoria have dwindled to the vanishing point.

As a result, emergency donors have been called on to supply needed plasma for routine operations as well as accidents and other emergencies.

The situation is described as "desperate" by hospital officials, but suggestions that a new system is needed were emphatically refused.

"We have no blood on hand at present," said George Masters, administrator of Royal Jubilee Hospital. "But we are not lessening our service, nor are we postponing operations."

"This is a seasonal 'low point' and one, I am sure, the Red Cross will overcome."

"We use much more blood now than before the war, and the Red Cross has done a marvelous job in supplying it. I think it would be very unwise to go back to a system of individual blood collection by the hospitals, if that meant abandoning the Red Cross voluntary plan."

WIDER CIRCLE

Mr. Masters pointed out that, when the blood bank ran low, hospital employees supplied blood. "Of course," he added, "you cannot go back too frequently to the same donors. The Red Cross can reach a wider circle of donors than we can."

The same situation exists in Victoria's and St. Joseph's hospitals in Victoria, and Resthaven Hospital, Sidney, all supplied by the Victoria Red Cross bank.

Red Cross officials believe one reason for the present shortage is the holiday season, but are quick to point out that "sickness, accident, and death take no holiday."

NEED GREATER

"In fact," said one administrator, "the possibility of emergency need for blood is greater when increased holiday highway traffic makes accidents more frequent."

Attempts to restock the bank will be made next week, when clinics will be held in Red Cross House, Fort Street, on Wednesday and Thursday.

At least 300 donors will be needed each day.

In addition, a two-day clinic will be held at H.M.C.S. Naden, on Monday and Tuesday.
